Rhetorics of Cultural Contact and Change Dan Mahala, Fiala, 2000-08-01      Readings in Writing Courses Richard C. Raymond, 2010-12-01 As the title suggests this six chapter book responds to a question which in Western culture goes back to Plato Aristotle Cicero and Quintilian namely What should rhetoric teachers ask their students to read Primarily historical the first two chapters trace conflicting answers to the question above focusing on two constructive results of the debate the re invention of rhetoric and writing as a discipline a coherent and growing body of knowledge and as a result the emergence of independent departments of writing free from departments of English free therefore to develop their own curriculum and to manage their own budgets Additionally the second chapter examines two destructive consequences of this debate the ban of literature from writing courses where students might profitably study both and as a result the often painful departmental splits which not only separate former colleagues but also cramp the pedagogy of those trained to teach both writing and literature More than a survey of key publications this chapter encourages readers to honor the discipline of rhetoric but to make a place for literature on their composition syllabi The next four chapters provide pedagogical support for these chief claims that literature can and should be taught in writing courses and that such readings need not distract students from the primary text their own writing On the contrary these readings motivate serious writing when students feel invited into a conversation on issues that touch their lives These pedagogical chapters then move entering professionals from the theoretical debate to the application of theory therefore the book would serve well professors of courses in composition theory particularly those who enjoy teaching the conflicts and preparing their graduate students to design assignments and courses that apply theories of learning reading and composing      Two-Year College Writing Studies Darin Jensen, Brett Griffiths, 2023-12-15 Two Year College Writing Studies is a comprehensive overview of the two year college writing teaching experience within our current political and historical contexts with examples for teachers to better enact just teaching practices in their colleges Editors Darin Jensen and Brett Griffiths present grounded well theorized and practical strategies for teachers to implement in classrooms institutions and geopolitical contexts to advocate more effectively for their students Contributors draw on theories of identity rhetorical third space and linguistics to articulate a praxis of just teaching They describe existing institutional challenges and opportunities that foster equity and offer cautionary tales of educational systems dismantled for short term economic and political gains Two year college writing studies when properly resourced holds the potential to foster or undermine democratic ideals of civic literacy and uplift Chapters in this volume offer case study examples of changes in departmental practices for reflection interaction and assessment that empower faculty to break free and engage directly with institutional regional state and national constraints By making these resilient practices visible Two Year College Writing Studies amplifies the voices and validates the experiences of instructors engaging in this work It will serve generalists specialists and academics interested in the subdiscipline of student success pedagogies and the

First Language to Promote College Success Andrea Parmegiani, 2019-01-15 Emerging from a critical analysis of the global power of English and how it relates to academic literacy and culturally responsive pedagogy this book presents translanguaging strategies for using ESL students mother tongue as a resource for academic literacy acquisition and college success Parmegiani offers a strong counterpoint to the English only movement in the United States Grounded in a case study of a learning community linking Spanish and English academic writing courses he demonstrates that a mother tongue based pedagogical intervention and the strategic use of minority home languages can promote English language acquisition and academic success

Composition, Rhetoric, and Disciplinarity Rita Malenczyk, Susan Miller-Cochran, Elizabeth

Wardle, Kathleen Yancey, 2018-04-02 Edited by four nationally recognized leaders of composition scholarship Composition Rhetoric and Disciplinarity asks a fundamental question can Composition and Rhetoric as a discipline continue its historical commitment to pedagogy without sacrificing equal attention to other areas such as research and theory In response contributors to the volume address disagreements about what it means to be called a discipline rather than a profession or a field elucidate tensions over the defined breadth of Composition and Rhetoric and consider the roles of research and responsibility as Composition and Rhetoric shifts from field to discipline Outlining a field with a complex and unusual formation story Composition Rhetoric and Disciplinarity employs several lenses for understanding disciplinarity theory history labor and pedagogy and for teasing out the implications of disciplinarity for students faculty institutions and

Composition and Rhetoric itself Collectively the chapters speak to the intellectual and embodied history leading to this point to questions about how disciplinarity is and might be understood especially with regard to Composition and Rhetoric to the curricular conceptual labor and other sites of tension inherent in thinking about Composition and Rhetoric as a discipline and to the implications of Composition and Rhetoric s disciplinarity for the future Contributors Linda Adler Kassner Elizabeth H Boquet Christiane Donahue Whitney Douglas Doug Downs Heidi Estrem Kristine Hansen Doug Hesse Sandra Jamieson Neal Lerner Jennifer Helene Maher Barry Maid Jaime Armin Mej a Carolyn R Miller Kelly Myers Gwendolynne Reid Liane Robertson Rochelle Rodrigo Dawn Shepherd Kara Taczak      Pedagogy in the Age of Politics Patricia A. Sullivan, Donna J. Qualley, 1994 Writing at a time of intense institutional examination and social critique the authors in this important volume address how our teaching practices might productively respond to these challenges Contributors discuss how our evolving awareness of the social forces of gender race class and culture may be taken from the level of abstract discussion into our day to day interactions with our students and colleagues Contributors offer new perspectives on such issues as feminism in the classroom the shifts in power brought about by computers in the writing class approaches to literature from various regions and cultures and new ways of looking at genres such as the journal and the academic autobiography Back cover
