William Holman Hunt and Typological Symbolism (Routledge Revivals) George P. Landow, 2015-06-11 In this study first published in 1979 Landow contends that Hunt's version of Pre Raphaelitism concerned itself primarily with an elaborate system of painterly symbolism rather than with a photographic realism as has been usually supposed Like Ruskin Hunt believed that a symbolism based on scriptural typology the method of finding anticipations of Christ in Hebrew history could produce an ideal art that would solve the problems of Victorian painting According to Hunt this elaborate symbolism could simultaneously avoid the dangers of materialism inherent in a realistic style the dead conventionalism of academic art and the sentimentality of much contemporary painting George Landow examines Hunt's work in the context of this argument and drawing on much unknown or previously inaccessible material shows how he used texts frames and symbols to create a complex art of mediation that became increasingly visionary as the artist grew older This book is ideal for students of art history Victorian Fantasists David Jasper, Kath Filmer, 1991-04-05 Biopolis Volker M. Welter, 2003-08-29 An examination of the work and influence of Scottish urban planner and theorist Patrick Geddes The Scottish urbanist and biologist Patrick Geddes 1854-1932 is perhaps best known for introducing the concept of region to architecture and planning At the turn of the twentieth century he was one of the strongest advocates of town planning and an active participant in debates about the future of the city He was arguably the first planner to recognize the importance of historic city centers and his renewal work in Edinburgh's Old Town is visible and impressive to this day Geddes's famous analytical triad place work and folk corresponding to the geographical historical and spiritual aspects of the city provides the basic structure of this examination of his urban theory Volker Welter examines Geddes's ideas in the light of nineteenth century biology in which Geddes received his academic training showing Geddes's use of biological concepts to be far more sophisticated than popular images of the city as an organic entity His urbanism was informed by his lifelong interest in the theory of evolution and in ecology cutting edge areas in the late nineteenth century Balancing Geddes's biological thought is his interest in the historical Greek concept of polis usually translated as city state but implying a view of the city as a cultural and spiritual phenomenon Although Geddes's work was far ranging the city provided the unifying focus of nearly all of his theoretical and practical work Throughout the book Welter relates Geddes's theory of the city to contemporary European debates about architecture and urbanism
