Van Diemen's Land Murray Johnson,Ian McFarlane,2015-03-01 The history of Aborigines in Van Diemen s Land is long The first Tasmanians lived in isolation for as many as 300 generations after the flooding of Bass Strait Their struggle against almost insurmountable odds is one worthy of respect and admiration not to mention serious attention This broad ranging book is a comprehensive and critical account of that epic survival up to the present day Starting from antiquity the book examines the devastating arrival of Europeans and subsequent colonisation warfare and exile It emphasises the regionalism and separateness a consistent feature of Aboriginal life since time immemorial that has led to the distinct identities we see in the present including the unique place of the islanders of Bass Strait Carefully researched using the findings of archaeologists and extensive documentary evidence some only recently uncovered this important book fills a long time gap in Tasmanian history

New Perspectives on Prehistoric Art Günter Berghaus,2004-04-30 Following the discovery of Franco Caribbean cave art in the nineteenth century standard interpretations of these works usually revolved around hunting magic and fertility cults Orthodox positions such as these have weighed heavily on later generations of art historians archaeologists and anthropologists even those whose views dissented from those of their predecessors In the last few decades however new approaches to cave art often based on discoveries made in Africa Asia Australia North America and the Arctic region have produced new insights into possible meanings and functions of prehistoric paintings and sculptures This new collection of essays explores these insights gathering the observations of eight experts from a variety of disciplines and examining some of the social and spiritual functions of a variety of artistic genres ranging from 40 000 B C to 5 000 B C These insights which derive from evolutionary biology feminist scholarship ritual studies and new modes of anthropology argue collectively that prehistoric art was a culture specific form of communication that should be interpreted in the social context of early hunter gatherer societies and should not be measured with the criteria and paradigms of modern art Essential reading for anyone interested in prehistoric art or its cultural implications this volume represents a bold step forward in the research and analysis of the very first artists

Murujuga José Antonio González Zarandona,2020-01-17 A fascinating case study of the archaeological site at Murujuga Australia Located in the Dampier Archipelago of Western Australia Murujuga is the single largest archaeological site in the world It contains an estimated one million petroglyphs or rock art motifs produced by the Indigenous Australians who have historically inhabited the archipelago To date there has been no comprehensive survey of the site s petroglyphs or those who created them Since the 1960s regional mining interests have caused significant damage to this site destroying an estimated 5 to 25 percent of the petroglyphs in Murujuga Today Murujuga holds the unenviable status of being one of the most endangered archaeological sites in the world Jos Antonio Gonz lez Zarandona provides a full postcolonial analysis of Murujuga as well as a geographic and archaeological overview of the site its ethnohistory and its considerable significance to Indigenous groups before examining the colonial mistreatment of Murujuga from the seventeenth century to the present Drawing on a range of postcolonial perspectives Zarandona reads the assaults on the rock art of Murujuga as instances of what he terms landscape iconoclasm the destruction of art and landscapes central to group identity in pursuit of ideological political and economic dominance Viewed through the lens of landscape iconoclasm the destruction of Murujuga can be understood as not only the result of economic pressures but also as a means of reinforcing through neglect abandonment fragmentation and even certain practices of heritage preservation the colonial legacy in Western Australia Murujuga provides a case study through which to examine and begin to reject archaeology's global entanglement with colonial intervention and the politics of heritage preservation

The Emotional Mind Stephen T. Asma, Rami Gabriel, 2019-04-15 Tracing the leading role of emotions in the evolution of the mind a philosopher and a psychologist pair up to reveal how thought and culture owe less to our faculty for reason than to our capacity to feel Many accounts of the human mind concentrate on the brain's computational power Yet in evolutionary terms rational cognition emerged only the day before yesterday For nearly 200 million years before humans developed a capacity to reason the emotional centers of the brain were hard at work If we want to properly understand the evolution of the mind we must explore this more primal capability that we share with other animals the power to feel Emotions saturate every thought and perception with the weight of feelings The Emotional Mind reveals that many of the distinctive behaviors and social structures of our species are best discerned through the lens of emotions Even the roots of so much that makes us uniquely human art mythology religion can be traced to feelings of caring longing fear loneliness awe rage lust playfulness and more From prehistoric cave art to the songs of Hank Williams Stephen T Asma and Rami Gabriel explore how the evolution of the emotional mind stimulated our species cultural expression in all its rich variety Bringing together insights and data from philosophy biology anthropology neuroscience and psychology The Emotional Mind offers a new paradigm for understanding what it is that makes us so unique

The Strong Eye of Shamanism Robert E. Ryan, 1999 An exploration of shamanism and the archetypal symbolism that sits at the foundation of all human life Not just an academic work Helps the reader experience the actual mindset of the shaman Presents a cohesive view of the recurrent patterns of symbolism and visionary experience that underlie all religion The human psyche contains archetypal patterns largely lost to contemporary society but which shamans have employed for over 30 000 years to gain access to the spiritual world Shamanic symbols both affect and reflect these durative patterns that exist with uncanny similarity in civilizations separated by expanses of time and distance The Strong Eye of Shamanism draws together the many facets of the art of shamanism presenting a cohesive view of the recurrent patterns of symbolism and visionary experience that underlie its practice The strong eye of the title refers to the archetypal symbolism that sits at the foundation of all human life whether in Paleolithic caves or today's temples The author asserts that society has become separated from the power of those symbols that lead us into deeper understanding of our spirituality In today's world of splintered psyches a world in which people are in search of their souls shamanism survives as an age old technology of soul recovery a living Rosetta stone that reminds us of the shared foundation that exists beneath even the most radically different perspectives Through its study of shamanism archetypal psychology and symbolism The Strong Eye of Shamanism encourages individuals and society to look inward and remember that the deepest forms of awareness begin with the knowledge that the answers reside within us

Climate Change: An Archaeological Study

John D. Grainger, 2020-12-14 How prehistoric humans coped with the end of the last Ice Age and catastrophic global warming Global warming is among the most urgent problems facing the world today Yet many commentators and even some scientists discuss it with reference only to the changing climate of the last century or so John Grainger takes a longer view and draws on the archaeological evidence to show how our ancestors faced up to the ending of the last Ice Age arguably a more dramatic climate change crisis than the present one Ranging from the Paleolithic down to the development of agriculture in the Neolithic the author shows how human ingenuity and resourcefulness allowed them to adapt to the changing conditions in a variety of ways as the ice sheets retreated and water levels rose Different strategies from big game hunting on the ice nomadic hunter gathering sedentary foraging and finally farming were developed in various regions in response to local conditions as early man colonized the changing world The human response to climate change was not to try to stop it but to embrace technology and innovation to cope with it

Tisdell, Serge Svizzero, 2023-07-07 Drawing on modern economic theory this book provides new insights into the economic development of ancient economies and the sustainability of their development The book pays particular attention to the economics of hunting and gathering societies and their diversity New ideas are presented about theories of the transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture including Childe's theory of this development The Agricultural Revolution was a major contributor to economic development because in most cases it generated an economic surplus However as shown income inequality was a necessary condition for the use of this surplus to promote economic development and to avoid the Malthusian population trap This inequality was evident in the successful operation of the palatial economies of the Minoan and Mycenaean states Nevertheless some post agricultural economies proved to be unsustainable and they mysteriously disappeared This happened in the case of the Silesian rice culture and population Economic and ecological reasons for this are suggested The nature of economic development altered with increased trade the use of barter and subsequently the supply of money to facilitate this trade These developments are examined in the context of the palatial economies of Mesopotamia and Egypt Elsewhere multinational business made a substantial contribution to the economic growth of Phoenicia where international trade was not determined by its natural resource endowments Thus Phoenician economic exchange and development provides a different set of insights The book makes an important contribution to the understanding of the evolution of human societies and will therefore be of interdisciplinary interest including economists especially economic historians anthropologists and sociologists some archaeologists and historians Australian Aboriginal Studies, 2004 Exploring Place in the Australian Landscape David S. Jones, 2022-08-30 This book offers an original framework on how to investigate understand and translate sense of place at a regional scale The book explores contemporary sense of place theory and practice drawing upon the Western District of Victoria in Australia being the Country of the White Cockatoo It offers a unique multi temporal and thematical analytical approach towards comprehending and mapping the values that underpin and determine strengths of human relationships and nuances to this landscape Included is a deep ethno ecological and cross cultural translation that takes the reader through both the Western understanding of sense of place as well as the Australian Aboriginal understanding of Country Both are different intellectual constructions of thoughts values and ideologies but which share numerous commonalities due to their archetypal meanings feelings and values transmitted to humans Antiquity Osbert Guy Stanhope Crawford, 1991 Includes section Reviews Tropical Forests in Transition J. Goldammer, 2013-03-08 In evolutionary time scales natural disturbances have affected the vegetation on Earth During the Quaternary the forest biomes of the tropics were subjected to manifold disturbances Climate changes and climate oscillations were associated with changing precipitation and drought regimes flooding siltation landslides etc The prehistorical forest was also influenced by the effects of large wildlife populations Large scale catastrophies in the forest biomes were mainly caused by abiotic environmental alterations the small scale disturbances were and still are related to both biotic and abiotic processes Both the large and the small scale disturbances have played a significant role in shaping distribution dynamics structure and composition of the paleoforest After the expansion of hominids and early humans and later by modern humans the anthropogenic influences on the tropical forest began to overlap natural disturbances Today s anthropogenic impacts on the tropical forests differ qualitatively and quantitatively from the natural disturbances The speed of tropical deforestation and savannization is dramatically increasing The physical and chemical impacts of forest conversion and biomass burning add to other anthropogenic influences on the atmosphere and climate The expected anthropogenic climate change will also have considerable impacts on the tropical flora and fauna The book on Tropical Forests in Transition synthesizes information on changing environmental conditions and human impacts on the tropical forest by looking back to the paleoecology analyzing the impact of modern human populations and modeling the future of the tropical forest in a changing environment The aim of the book is to strengthen multidisciplinary thinking in disturbance ecology
