Samba The Body Articulate:

Bodies of the Text Ellen W. Goellner, Jacqueline Shea Murphy, 1995 Dance and literary studies have traditionally been at odds dancers and dance critics have understood academic analysis to be overly invested in the mind at the expense of body signification literary critics and theorists have seen dance studies as anti theoretical even anti intellectual Bodies of the Text is the first book length study of the interconnections between the two arts and the body of writing about them The essays by scholar critics of dance and literature explore dances actual and fictional to offer powerful new insights into issues of gender race ethnicity popular culture feminist aesthetics historical embodiment identity politics and narrativity The general introduction traces the genealogy of dance studies in the academy to suggest why critical and theoretical attention to dance and dance s challenges to writing is both compelling and overdue A milestone in interdisciplinary studies Bodies of the Text opens both its fields to new inquiry new theoretical precision and to new readers and writers Samba Barbara

Browning, 1995-11-22 Barbara Browning combines a lyrical personal narrative with incisive theoretical accounts of Brazilian dance cultures While she brings ethnographic historiographic and musicological scholarship to bear on her subject Browning writes as a dancer fully engaged in the dance cultures of Brazil and of Brazilian exile communities in the U S The Body,

Dance and Cultural Theory Helen Thomas, 2017-03-14 This book takes its point of departure from the overwhelming interest in theories of the body and performativity in sociology and cultural studies in recent years It explores a variety of ways of looking at dance as a social and artistic bodily practice as a means of generating insights into the politics of identity and difference as they are situated and traced through representations of the body and bodily practices These issues are addressed through a series of case studies Configurations of Migration Jennifer Leetsch, Frederike Middelhoff, Miriam Wallraven, 2023-10-24 In a global context in which phenomena of migration play an ever more important role the ways individual and collective experiences of migration are covered in the media represented in culture and interpreted are coming under increasing scrutiny This book explores the complex relationship between creative engagements with migration on the one hand and forms of knowledge about migration on the other inquiring into the ways aesthetic practices are intertwined with knowledge structures The book responds to three pressing research questions First it analyses how fictional texts plays images films and autobiographical accounts mediate forms of knowledge about migration Second it identifies the ways in which specific media approaches and aesthetic practices influence people s ideas about and awareness of migratory experiences in a globalized world Finally it delineates how historical perspectives help us compare epistemological approaches to migration in the nineteenth twentieth and early twenty first centuries and how these approaches affect the way critics and the public responded to and thought about different forms of forced migration Bringing together renowned scholars working across disciplines it investigates the possibilities and limitations that different media present when it comes to reflecting on communicating and imagining experiences of migration and how these representations in turn create ways of
