Sending Them Home Refugees And The New Politics Of Indifference:

Quarterly Essay 13 Sending Them Home Robert Manne, David Corlett, 2003-12-01 In the first Quarterly Essay of 2004 Robert Manne tells the stories of individual asylum seekers and finds in their experience the seeds of a devastating critique. Balancing sorrow and pity with a controlled anger, Manne develops a sustained argument about what could and should be done for the nine thousand refugees who remain in limbo on temporary protection visas. Sending Them Home also contains a groundbreaking account of conditions in the offshore processing camps on Nauru whose operations have until now been shrouded in secrecy and a damning forensic investigation of the recent efforts to return frequently against their will many of those who sought our protection and whose countries remain in turmoil. Combining ethical reflection and acute political analysis, this essay initiates a new phase in the refugee debate. No one ought to pretend that the unanticipated arrival of the Iraqi, Afghans and Iranians did not pose real problems for Australia. However, these problems arose not because these people were not genuine refugees. They arose rather precisely because the overwhelming majority of them were. Robert Manne Sending Them Home

Australia and the Middle East Fethi Mansouri, 2006-08-25 What is the history behind Australia's relations with the Muslim world and the Middle East in particular which led Australia to be described as a frontline of the so-called War on Terror? Australia's encounters with the Middle East have historically been defined through the British Empire, the Commonwealth and more recently through its close strategic ties with the US. This book traces the nature of the Australia-Middle East relationship from an insular White Australia ideology through to the ongoing global impact of September 11 and the decision to send troops to Iraq and Afghanistan. Comprehensive analysis of these complex ties provides an essential basis for understanding past encounters, evaluating present policies and developing a framework for future interactions. Australia and the Middle East draws together the various dimensions and themes of this relationship from trade and migration to increasing strategic interest and military involvement in the region.

Turning Points in Australian History Martin Crotty, David Andrew Roberts, 2009 This exciting and stimulating book looks back at turning points and crucial moments in Australian history. Rather than arguing that there have been forks on a pre-determined road, the book challenges us to think about other paths or better paths that might have led to different outcomes.

Rethinking Displacement: Asia Pacific Perspectives Kuntala Lahiri-Dutt, 2016-04-08 This book responds to the need to explore the multitude of interconnected factors causing displacements that compel people to move within their homelands or traverse various borders in the contemporary world that is characterised by extensive and rapid movements of people. It addresses this need by bringing together historical and contemporary accounts and critical examinations of the displaced by articulating the commonalities in their lived experiences. It accomplishes the task of charting a new path in displacement studies by offering a number of studies from interdisciplinary and diverse methodological approaches comprising ethnographic and qualitative research and literary interpretations to emphasise that although the forms and conditions of mobility are highly divergent, individual experiences of displacement and placelessness offer a critical challenge to the artificial categorisations of people's movements. Each chapter adds insights into the different configurations of displacement and placement and offers fresh interpretations of migration and dislocation in today's rapidly changing world. The contributors critically examine a variety of displacement processes and experiences in the context of war, tourism, neoliberal policies of development and the impact of various agro-forestry policies. They focus on a range of countries enabling a thorough comparative analysis in terms of scope and range of examples and methods of analysis. This book makes an original contribution to the growing body of literature on displacement and will appeal to a wide readership including advanced undergraduates and graduate students and professors in disciplines such as human geography, development studies, sociology and anthropology, regional studies and comparative impact assessment.

Identity Politics in Deconstruction Carolyn D'Cruz, 2016-05-13 Identity politics dominates the organisation of liberation movements today. This is the case whether fighting over one's birthright to a nation such as in the Palestinian-Israeli conflict, lobbying for civil rights such as in gay and lesbian campaigns for marriage or struggling for citizenry recognition as currently experienced by asylum seekers. In this book Carolyn D'Cruz investigates the nexus between what David Birch describes as the seemingly impossible of high theory and the seemingly accessible possibilities of popular discourse as encountered in liberation movements based on identity. D'Cruz reworks the logic of such movements through the unique combination of Derridean deconstruction, Foucauldian discourse and Levinasian ethics. Moving both within and between the domains of philosophy, politics and postmodern culture, this book offers both a clear explication of complex philosophical issues and an understanding of how they relate to the political practicalities of everyday life.

Politics and Morality I. Primoratz, 2006-12-08 This book is a timely contribution to the public debate of morality and politics. Is political morality permissive of deception, manipulation and violence? Is there room for morality in international relations? Should torture be used in the war on terror? Is patriotism a virtue? Asking key questions on pertinent issues, this is an essential text.

Cultures in Refuge Anna Hayes, 2016-05-13 New formulations of globalisation have radically altered how people conceptualize the movement of people, ideas and capital throughout the globe, with questions of securitisation and transnational sentiment reshaping long-standing Western concepts of asylum and human rights. Questioning the manner in which the reception of sanctuary in modern Australia changes migrants' sense of belonging, this interdisciplinary volume focuses on the disjuncture between receiving sanctuary and feeling secure in one's self and community. With emphasis on the formation and expression of migrant and refugee cultures, the book deliberately blurs the distinction between migrants and refugees in order to engage more directly with the subjectivities of lived experience and social networks. Presenting research from the fields of sociology, media studies, politics, international relations and history, Cultures in Refuge explores the manner in which notions of asylum and refuge affect the processes of articulating and negotiating identities.

Asylum Seekers Linda Briskman, Alperhan Babacan, 2009-05-27 Refugee Journeys Jordana Silverstein, Rachel

Stevens, 2021-02-04 Refugee Journeys presents stories of how governments the public and the media have responded to the arrival of people seeking asylum and how these responses have impacted refugees and their lives Mostly covering the period from 1970 to the present the chapters provide readers with an understanding of the political social and historical contexts that have brought us to the current day This engaging collection of essays also considers possible ways to break existing policy deadlocks encouraging readers to imagine a future where we carry vastly different ideas about refugees government policies and national identities

Republics of Letters Peter Kirkpatrick, Professor Robert Dixon, 2018-08-30 Republics of Letters Literary Communities in Australia is the first book to explore the notion of literary community or literary sociability in relation to Australian literature
