Sentimental Education In Chinese History An Interdisciplinary Textual Research On Ming And Qing Sources:

Sentimental Education in Chinese History Paolo Santangelo, 2021-10-11 This is the long awaited first book form result of the author s pioneering interdisciplinary research on a key problem for understanding Chinese texts and therewith China its ways of expression of emotions and states of mind Relying on his immense database on mostly Ming and Qing sources the author here presents the first truly solid source based survey on the subject After analysing the methodological problems involved the volume focuses on contradictions between official values on the one hand and practical compromises between individual appetitive energies and personal tendencies for wealth and gratification of desires on the other hand It analyses the negotiating process between the rigid ethical codes and dynamic social changes as well as how social control influences the cognitive elements of emotions both in restraining personal passions and promoting the virtuous sentiments Love and Emotions in Traditional Chinese Literature Halvor Eifring, 2021-09-13 Do all cultures and historical periods have a concept corresponding to the English word emotion This collection of essays is concerned with the closest candidate within the Chinese language namely the term q ng What is the meaning of this term in different periods and genres What are the types of discourse in which it is typically found This volume contains two essays on the notion of q ng in classical sources two on Chan Buddhist usage and two on fiction and drama from the Ming and Qing dynasties An introductory essay discusses the complex historical development of the term Together the essays may be read as a first step towards a conceptual history of one of the key terms in traditional Chinese culture The History of Emotions Jan Plamper, 2015 The history of emotions is one of the fastest growing fields in current historical debate and this is the first book length introduction to the field synthesizing the current research and offering direction for future study The History of Emotions is organized around the debate between social constructivist and universalist theories of emotion that has shaped most emotions research in a variety of disciplines for more than a hundred years social constructivists believe that emotions are largely learned and subject to historical change while universalists insist on the timelessness and pan culturalism of emotions In historicizing and problematizing this binary Jan Plamper opens emotions research beyond constructivism and universalism he also maps a vast terrain of thought about feelings in anthropology philosophy sociology linguistics art history political science the life sciences from nineteenth century experimental psychology to the latest affective neuroscience and history from ancient times to the present day The Culture of Love in China and Europe Paolo Santangelo, Gábor Boros, 2020-01-13 In The Culture of

Love in China and Europe Paolo Santangelo and G bor Boros offer a survey of the cults of love developed in the history of ideas and literary production in China and Europe between the 12th and early 19th century They describe parallel evolutions within the two cultures and how innovatively these independent civilisations developed their own categories and myths to explain exalt but also control the emotions of love and their behavioural expressions The analyses contain rich materials for comparison point out the universal and specific elements in each culture and hint at differences and resemblances without ignoring the peculiar beauty and attractive force of the texts cultivating love

A Companion to Chinese History Michael Szonyi, 2017-02-06 A Companion to Chinese History presents a collection of essays offering a comprehensive overview of the latest intellectual developments in the study of China's history from the ancient past up until the present day. Covers the major trends in the study of Chinese history from antiquity to the present day. Considers the latest scholarship of historians working in China and around the world. Explores a variety of long range questions and themes which serves to bridge the conventional divide between China's traditional and modern eras. Addresses China's connections with other nations and regions and enables non specialists to make comparisons with their own fields. Features discussion of traditional topics and chronological approaches as well as newer themes such as Chinese history in relation to sexuality, national identity and the environment.

Sanctity and Self-Inflicted Violence in Chinese Religions, 1500-1700 Jimmy Yu, 2012-04-27 In this illuminating study of a vital but long overlooked aspect of Chinese religious life Jimmy Yu reveals that in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries self inflicted violence was an essential and sanctioned part of Chinese culture. He examines a wide range of practices including blood writing, filial body slicing, chastity mutilations and suicides, ritual exposure and self immolation, arguing that each practice was public, scripted and a signal of cultural expectations. Individuals engaged in acts of self inflicted violence to exercise power and to affect society by articulating moral values, reinstituting order, forging new social relations and protecting against the threat of moral ambiguity. Self inflicted violence was intelligible both to the person doing the act and to those who viewed and interpreted it regardless of the various religions of the period: Buddhism, Daoism, Confucianism and other religions. This book is a groundbreaking contribution to scholarship on bodily practices in late imperial China, challenging preconceived ideas about analytic categories of religion, culture and ritual in the study of Chinese religions.

Materials for an Anatomy of Personality in Late Imperial China Paolo Santangelo, 2010-01-11 How was the concept of personality perceived in late imperial China? Reconstructing the main features describing the individual, this volume, firmly based in textual sources, is a reflection on personality and its attributes in China. It discusses terms that express the propensity, inclinations, predispositions and temperament of subjects, departing from the descriptions that represent one's and the other's self, as well as terms that describe or label a person's main qualities or defects. As judgments contribute to formulate the image of ourselves and others when talking of personality, not only individual characters, biological traits, cultural basis, innate and acquired traits and habits are looked into, but also social values and collective mentality, as well as individual and group subjectivity.

Sources for the History of Emotions Katie Barclay, Sharon Crozier-De Rosa, Peter N. Stearns, 2020-06-03 Offering insights on the wide range of sources that are available from across the globe and throughout history for the study of the history of emotions, this book provides students with a handbook for beginning their own research within the field. Divided into three parts, Sources for the History of Emotions begins by giving key starting points into the ethical, methodological and theoretical issues in the field. Part II shows how emotions historians have proved imaginative in their discovering and use of varied materials considering such sources as rituals relics and religious rhetoric prescriptive literature medicine science and psychology and fiction while Part III offers introductions to some of the big or emerging topics in the field including embodied emotions comparative emotions and intersectionality and emotion Written by key scholars of emotions history the book shows readers the ways in which different sources can be used to extract information about the history of emotions highlighting the kind of data available and how it can be used in a field for which there is no convenient archive of sources The focused discussion of sources offered in this book which not only builds on existing research but encourages further efforts makes it ideal reading and a key resource for all students of emotions history

Shan'ge, the 'Mountain Songs' Yasushi OKI, Paolo Santangelo, 2011-02-17 Mountain Songs is a collection of folk songs edited by the famous writer Feng Menglong 1574 1646 By this innovative work mainly written in the Suzhou dialect he aimed to revitalize poetry through the power of popular songs This collection is very significant to the understanding of the characters of the mobile society of Jiangnan and the vitality of its intellectual world The songs deal with the lives of common people women often prostitutes boatmen peasants hunters fishers and paddlers Their spirit is far from the orthodox moral intents that Zhu Xi advocated for interpreting the Shijing and their language is often vulgar and full of crude expressions or salacious double meanings and contains allusions to sexual and erotic behaviour

Love, Hatred, and Other Passions Paolo Santangelo, Donatella Guida, 2006-12-01 This volume aims at starting a debate on functions role and relevance of states of mind in Chinese History and civilization It focuses on an anthropological aspect of human experience the affective world as it is represented and evaluated in the various sources A number of well known specialists ranging from the philosophical basic concepts to some fundamental questions about terminology analyze literary historical and judicial materials this collection of essays presents different opinions experiences and perspectives on the understanding of emotional and mental states in Chinese civilization as well as about the difficulties met on the topic A fascinating and useful reading for all those who are interested in humanities and in the history of mentality
