Justice Provocateur Gray Cavender, Nancy C. Jurik, 2012-08-15 Justice Provocateur focuses on Prime Suspect a popular British television film series starring Oscar and Emmy award winning actress Helen Mirren as fictional London policewoman Jane Tennison Gray Cavender and Nancy C Jurik examine the media constructions of justice gender and police work in the show exploring its progressive treatment of contemporary social problems in which women are central protagonists They argue that the show acts as a vehicle for progressive moral fiction fiction that gives voice to victim experiences locates those experiences within a larger social context transcends traditional legal definitions of justice for victims and offers insights into ways that individuals might challenge oppressive social and organizational arrangements Although Prime Suspect is often seen as a uniquely progressive feminist inspired example within the typically more conservative male dominated crime genre Cavender and Jurik also address the complexity of the films gender politics Consistent with some significant criticisms of the films they identify key moments in the series when Tennison's character appears to move from a successful woman who has it all to a post feminist stereotype of a lonely aging career woman with no strong family or friendship ties Shrewdly interpreting the show as an illustration of the tensions and contradictions of women's experiences and their various relations to power Justice Provocateur provides a framework for interrogating the meanings and implications of justice gender and social transformation both on and off the screen

Daniel Batson,2018-10-19 For centuries the egoism altruism debate has echoed through Western thought Egoism says that the motivation for everything we do including our seemingly selfless acts of care for others is to gain one or another self benefit Altruism while not denying the force of self interest says that under certain circumstances we can care for others for their sakes not our own Over the past half century social psychologists have turned to laboratory experiments on humans to provide a scientific resolution of this debate about our nature The experiments have focused on the possibility that empathic concern other oriented emotion elicited by and congruent with the perceived welfare of someone in need produces altruistic motivation to remove that need With carefully constructed experimental designs these scientists have tested the nature of the motivation produced by empathic concern determining whether it is egoistic or altruistic and thereby providing an answer to a fundamental question about what makes us tick Framed as a detective story this book traces the scientific search for altruism through numerous studies and attempts to examine various motivational suspects reaching the improbable conclusion that empathy induced altruism is indeed part of our nature The book then considers the implications of this conclusion both for our understanding of who we are as humans the bad news as well as the good and for how we might create a more humane society Feminist Television Criticism: A Reader Brunsdon, Charlotte,Spigel, Lynn,2007-12-01 Covers the area of feminist media criticism This edition discusses subjects including alternative family structures de westernizing media studies industry practices Sex and the City Oprah and Buffy Entertainment Awards Don Franks,2014-12-03 What show won the Emmy for Outstanding Drama Series in 1984 Who won the Oscar as Best Director in 1929 What actor won the Best Actor Obie for his work in Futz in 1967 Who was named Comedian of the Year by the Country
