Gendering Border Studies Jane Aaron,Henrice Altink,Chris Weedon,2010-06-15 The study of borders has recently undergone significant transitions reflecting changes in the functions of boundaries themselves as the world political map has experienced transformations Gender defined as the knowledge about perceived distinctions between the sexes is an important signifier of borders as constructed and contested lines of differences In the interplay with other categories of difference like class race ethnicity and religion it plays a major role in giving meaning to different forms of borders It is not surprising then that an increasing number of studies in the last years have aimed for a gendering of border studies This book explores this new interdisciplinary field and develops it further The main questions it asks are How do we define borders frontiers and boundaries in different disciplinary approaches of gendered border studies What were and are the main fields of gendered border studies in different fields What might be important questions for future research And how useful is an inter or transdisciplinary approach for gendered border studies Sixteen established scholars from various disciplines contribute chapters in which they set out how the issue of gender and borders has been approached in their discipline and describe what they expect from future research

Constructions in Contact 2 Hans C. Boas,Steffen Höder,2021-06-15 The last few years have seen a steadily increasing interest in constructional approaches to language contact This volume builds on previous constructionist work in particular Diasystematic Construction Grammar DCxG and the volume Constructions in Contact 2018 and extends its methodology and insights in three major ways First it presents new constructional research on a wide range of language contact scenarios including Afrikaans American Sign Language English French Malayalam Norwegian Spanish Welsh as well as contact scenarios that involve typologically different languages Second it also addresses other types of scenarios that do not fall into the classic language contact category such as multilingual practices and language acquisition as emerging multilingualism Third it aims to integrate constructionist views on language contact and multilingualism with other approaches that focus on structural social and cognitive aspects The volume demonstrates that Construction Grammar is a framework particularly well suited for analyzing a wide variety of language contact phenomena from a usage based perspective Wales since 1939 Martin Johnes, 2013-01-18 The period since 1939 saw more rapid and significant change than any other time in Welsh history Wales developed a more assertive identity of its own and some of the apparatus of a nation state Yet its economy floundered between boom and bust its traditional communities were transformed and the Welsh language and other aspects of its distinctiveness were undermined by a globalizing world Wales was also deeply divided by class language ethnicity gender religion and region Its people grew wealthier healthier and more educated but they were not always happier This ground breaking book examines the story of Wales since 1939 giving voice to ordinary people and the variety of experiences within the nation This is a history of not just a nation but of its residents hopes and fears their struggles and pleasures and their views of where they lived and the wider world Celtic Literatures in the Twentieth Century Сборник статей, 2015-09-09 The Centre for Irish and Celtic Studies at the University of Ulster hosted at Coleraine between the 24th and 26th August 2000 a very successful and informative conference on Celtic Literatures in the Twentieth Century The lectures and the discussions were of a high standard and it was the intention of the organisers to edit and publish the proceedings as soon as possible thereafter Unfortunately due to difficulties in assembling some of the papers this was not possible and consequently publication has been delayed much longer than was originally anticipated Despite this delay we feel that those papers which we have received merit publication at this time not only because of their intrinsic merits but also because they represent the views of the authors on their respective topics at the turn of the twentieth century and will hopefully be of value to those interested in the state of the modern Celtic literatures Necrologies Meic Stephens, 2008 courses at most UK universities Book Jacket The Dragon's Pen Bobi Jones, Gwyn Thomas, 1986 Islwyn Ffowc Elis T.
