Darkoh,2018-12-20 This title was first published in 2003 Based on a blend of knowledge and perspectives from a variety of disciplines this volume examines the human environment interaction in Africa with a focus on the economic social and political processes that generate environmental change and problems in this region Currently there are controversies over and challenges to such concepts and issues as environment human relationships ecological resilience decertification sustainable development globalization and North South dialogue This book draws upon past and present research findings to discuss these issues It features an examination of the characteristics processes and patterns of environmental crises an analysis of the principal issues and challenges facing policy makers and implementers and the promotion of awareness of theoretical empirical and comparative research The volume not only seeks to answer some of the old questions but also open up new ones for further discussion Economic Development and Environmental Policy Scott Barrett,1996-01-01 Land Degradation in Tanzania Alemneh Dejene,1997-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 370 Local land users and officials often have conflicting perceptions of and responses to land degradation issues This causes problems for officials in diagnosing and addressing the issue and is a major constraint on the successful implementation of policies and projects to address land degradation This study looks at the perception and response gap between officials and land users in the diagnosis and remedy of land degradation It also examines the dynamics of the loss of soil fertility and low productivity at the village level The study's findings will help shape investment programs to enhance land productivity in Sub Saharan Africa Biodiversity and Landscapes Ke Chung Kim, Robert D. Weaver, 1994-08-26 Experts from different disciplines discuss the nature origin and possible solutions to the problem of landscape degradation and diminishing global biodiversity Developing Areas Vijayan Pillai, Lyle Shannon, 2024-11-01 With subjects ranging from the global challenge of the AIDS epidemic to the role of family planning in developing nations and the link between Central America's forests and North America's hamburgers this interdisciplinary introduction by some of the world's foremost experts in development studies will be an essential text for courses in this area It provides an exhaustive overview of the social political economic and population problems of countries in what is usually referred to as the Third World and more recently the Fourth World Although colonialism is considered as a contributing factor to underdevelopment emphasis in this volume is placed on the interrelation of major social institutions their impact on economic and social development and the effect of rapidly expanding industrialization on the ecosystem Forum for Applied Research and Public Policy, 1986 Violence Through Environmental Discrimination Günther Baechler, 2013-03-09 Since all out interstate wars for the time being seem to belong to the past conflict studies focus more and more on domestic conflicts This is a broad field not only because the arbitrary line between war and sub war violence disappears and the analyst is confronted with phenomena reaching from criminal violence and clashes between communities to violent conflicts of long duration and civil wars with massacres and genocides as their characteristics It is also because there are so many different types of conflicts to be analyzed so many different types of behavior to be studied whereas there is often little information available on what is really going on Against the background of internal conflicts which tend to be as protracted as diffuse in terms of time intensity actors and their goals this study aims to follow a specific pathway through the current thicket of violent circumstances It focuses on causation patterns by exploring the causal role of the environmental factor in the genesis of violent conflicts occurring today and probably even more so tomorrow This approach which for once does not focus on a specific level of the conflict system on one area in the conflict geography or on a specific category of actors analyzes causation dynamics Philosophy, Humanity and Ecology J. Odera Oruka, 1996 History of Mathematics in Africa: 1986-1999 Paulus Gerdes, Ahmed Djebbar, 2011 Environmental Justice Kristin Shrader-Frechette, 2002-09-26 Shrader Frechette offers a rigorous philosophical discussion of environmental justice Explaining fundamental ethical concepts such as equality property rights procedural justice free informed consent intergenerational equity and just compensation and then bringing them to bear on real world social issues she shows how many of these core concepts have been compromised for a large segment of the global population including Appalachians African Americans workers in hazardous jobs and indigenous people in developing nations She argues that burdens like pollution and resource depletion need to be apportioned more equally and that there are compelling ethical grounds for remedying our environmental problems She also argues that those affected by environmental problems must be included in the process of remedying those problems that all citizens have a duty to engage in activism on behalf of environmental justice and that in a democracy it is the people not the government that are ultimately responsible for fair use of the environment
