For Us, What Music? Jerry Harp, 2010-12-28 When Donald Justice wrote in On a Picture by Burchfield that art keeps long hours he might have been describing his own life Although he early on struggled to find a balance between his life and art the latter became a way of experiencing his life more deeply He found meaning in human experience by applying traditional religious language to his artistic vocation Central to his work was the translation of the language of devotion to a learned American vernacular Art not only provided him with a wealth of intrinsically worthwhile experiences but also granted rich and nuanced ways of experiencing understanding and being in the world For Donald Justice recipient of some of poetry's highest laurels including the Pulitzer Prize the Bollingen Prize and the Lannan Literary Award for Poetry art was a way of life Because Jerry Harp was Justice's student his personal knowledge of his subject combined with his deep understanding of Justice's oeuvre works to remarkable advantage in For Us What Music Harp reads with keen intelligence placing each poem within the precise historical moment it was written and locating it in the context of the literary tradition within which Justice worked Throughout the text runs the narrative of Justice's life tying together the poems and informing Harp's interpretation of them For Us What Music grants readers a remarkable understanding of one of America's greatest poets these tapes as well as reprints of two interviews recorded earlier are reproduced here in order to put on record fragments of the autobiography of a remarkable man who lived in extraordinary times and managed to leave his mark on the land and literature of South Africa Brutus was an effective anti apartheid campaigner who succeeded in getting South Africa excluded from the Olympics His opposition to racial discrimination in sports led to his arrest banning and imprisonment on Robben Island Upon release he left South Africa and lived most of the rest of his life in exile where he continued his political work and simultaneously earned an international reputation as a poet who often sang of his love for his country The tapes are edited by Bernth Lindfors who has added an Introduction and a transcript of a 1970 interview as well as other transcripts of lectures and discussions Bernth Lindfors is Professor Emeritus of English and African Literatures The University of Texas at Austin and founding editor of Research in African Literatures He has written and edited numerous books on African literature including Folklore in Nigerian Literature 1973 Popular Literatures in Africa 1991 Africans on Stage 1999 Early Soyinka 2008 and Early Achebe 2009 Male Subjectivity and Poetic Form in "New American" Poetry A. Mossin, 2010-05-24 Focusing in particular on pairings of writers within the larger grouping of poets this book suggests how literary partnerships became pivotal to American poets in the wake of Donald Allen's New American Poetry anthology Poetic License Gretchen Cherington, 2025-07-30 At age forty with two growing children and a new consulting company she'd recently founded Gretchen Cherington daughter of Pulitzer Prize winning poet Richard Eberhart faced a dilemma Should she protect her parents well crafted family myths while continuing to silence her own voice Or was it time to challenge those myths and speak her truth even the unbearable truth that her generous and kind father had sexually violated her In this powerful memoir aided by her father's extensive archives at Dartmouth College and interviews with some of her father's best friends Cherington candidly and courageously retraces her past to make sense of her father and herself From the women's movement of the 60s and the back to the land movement of the 70s to Cherington's consulting work through three decades with powerful executives to her eventual decision to speak publicly in the formative months of MeToo Poetic License is one woman's story of speaking truth in a world where too often men still call the shots The Letters of Robert Lowell Robert Lowell, 2007-03-20 These letters document the evolution of Lowell's work and illuminate another side of his life his deep friendships with other writers his manic depression his marriages to three prose writers and his involvement with the antiwar movement of the 1960s Words to Measure a War David K. Vaughan, 2009-04-23 This is a study of the war poetry of nine American men who served in World War II The efforts of those who had established themselves as poets prior to or during the war Karl Shapiro Randall Jarrell John Ciardi and William Meredith are compared with those whose poetic careers began after the war Louis Simpson James Dickey Richard Hugo Howard Nemerov and Lincoln Kirstein The military careers of these soldiers illuminate how their experiences affected the content as well as style of their poems Each man's poetry directly related to his involvement with the combat environment the closer the combat experience the more personal the poetry the more distant the experience the more detached the poetry Kenneth Rexroth and James Laughlin Kenneth Rexroth, 1991 Frankly H Miller was defended by me only because he spoke against the War and I think that was the main reason for his fame Now I do not believe what with Palmistry Chirography Phrenology and the Great Cryptogram he will survive the retooling period I honestly think he is the most insufferable snob I have ever met but all reformed pandhandlers are like that in a letter from Kenneth Rexroth to James Laughlin Contemporary Poets Thomas Riggs, 1995 This reference work combines bibliographical biographical and critical information on 900 living poets writing in the English language Entries are arranged alphabetically and this edition includes 120 new entrants including Wendy Cope Benjamin Zephaniah and Rachel McAlpine The New American Poetry John R. Woznicki, 2013-12-24 The New American Poetry Fifty Years Later is a collection of critical essays on Donald Allen's 1960 seminal anthology The New American Poetry an anthology that Marjorie Perloff once called the fountainhead of radical American poetics The New American Poetry is referred to in every literary history of post World War II American poetry Allen's anthology has reached its fiftieth anniversary providing a unique time for reflection and reevaluation of this preeminent collection As we know Allen's anthology was groundbreaking it was the first to distribute widely the poetry and theoretical positions of poets such as Charles Olson Allen Ginsberg and the Beats and it was the first to categorize these poets by the schools Black Mountain New York School San Francisco Renaissance and the Beats by which they are known today Over the course of fifty years this categorization of poets into schools has become one of the major if not only way that The New American Poetry is remembered or valued one certain goal of this volume as one reviewer invites is to pry The New American Poetry out from the hoary platitudes that have encrusted it To this point critics mostly have examined The New American Poetry as an anthology former treatments of The New American Poetry look at it intently as a whole Though the almost singularly focused study of its construction and less often reception has lent a great deal of documented highly visible and debated material in which to consider we have been left with certain notions about its relevance that have become imbued ultimately in the collective critical consciousness of postmodernity This volume however goes beyond the analysis of construction and reception and achieves something distinctive extending those former treatments by treading on the paths they create This volume aims to discover another sense of radical that Perloff articulated rather than a radical that departs markedly from the usual we invite consideration of The New American Poetry that is radical in the sense of root of harboring something fundamental something inherent as we uncover and trace further elements correlated with its widespread influence over the last fifty years The American Poet Laureate Amy Paeth, 2023-05-16 The American Poet Laureate shows how the state has been the silent center of poetic production in the United States since World War II It is the first history of the national poetry office the U S poet laureate highlighting the careers of Elizabeth Bishop Robert Frost Gwendolyn Brooks Robert Pinsky Tracy K Smith Juan Felipe Herrera and Joy Harjo at the nation's Capitol It is also a history of how these state poets participated in national arts programming during the Cold War Drawing on previously unexplored archival materials at the Library of Congress and materials at the John F Kennedy Presidential Library Amy Paeth describes the interactions of federal bodies including the Central Intelligence Agency the State Department and the National Endowment for the Arts with literary organizations and with private patrons including Prozac heiress Ruth Lilly The consolidation of public and private interests is crucial to the development of state verse culture recognizable at the first National Poetry Festival in 1962 which followed Robert Frost s Mission to Moscow and which became dominant in the late 1990s and early 2000s The American Poet Laureate contributes to a growing body of institutional and sociological approaches to U S literary production in the postwar era and demonstrates how poetry has played a uniquely important and largely underacknowledged role in the cultural front of the Cold War
