, 1934      The riddle of the sphinx or human origins Géza Róheim, 1934      Storytracking Sam D. Gill, 1998-02-12

Storytracking is a work of theory and application. It is both a study of history and culture and the academic issues accompanying the interpretation and observation of other peoples. Sam Gill writes about Central Australia but more importantly he writes about the business of trying to live responsibly and decisively in a postmodern world faced with irreconcilable diversity and complexity with undeniable ambiguity and uncertainty. Storytracking includes engaging accounts of many of the colorful figures involved in the nineteenth century development of Central Australia and it is an argument for a multiperspectival theory of history. It presents descriptions of an important aboriginal culture, the Arrernte, and it critically examines ethnography. It exposes the colonialist underbelly of all modern academic culture study yet it embraces the situation as one of creative potential, outlining an interactivist epistemology with which to negotiate the classical alternatives of objectivism and subjectivism. Gill presents an examination of the emergent academic study of religion focused on two exemplary scholars, Mircea Eliade and Jonathan Smith, offering a play theory of religion as the basis for innovative critical discussions of text comparison, interpretation, the definition of religion, academic writing style, and the role of the other. Based on painstakingly detailed research, Gill exposes disturbing and confounding dimensions of the modern world, particularly academia. Yet beyond the pessimism that often characterizes postmodernity, he charts an optimistic and creative course framed in the terms of play.

Metaphor, Riddles, and the Origin of Language Marcel Danesi, 2024-04-08 Scientific evidence for the origin of speech is abundant but evidence for the origin of language as separate from speech as a naming system remains speculative What evidence can be utilized that will furnish relevant insights on the origin of language This book attempts to provide an answer by suggesting that the first riddles of humanity along with the first myths reveal that language may have emerged as a mode of reflection via metaphor a mode that involves blending speech forms together to produce complex abstract cognition
