History and the Contemporary Novel David Cowart,1989 Cowart presents a study of international historical fiction since World War II with reflections on the affinities between historical and fictional narrative analysis of the basic modes of historical fiction and readings of a number of historical novels including John Barth s The Sot Weed Factor Marguerite Yourcenar s Memoirs of Hadrian Russell Hoban s Riddley Walker Margaret Atwood s The Handmaid s Tale Giuseppe Tomasi Di Lampedusa s The Leopard D M Thomas s The White Hotel William Faulkner s Go Down Moses and Umberto Eco s The Name of the Rose He proposes recognizing four modes of the historical novel the past as a distant mirror of the present fictions whose authors seek to pinpoint the precise historical moment when the modern age or some prominent feature of it came into existence fictions whose authors aspire purely or largely to historical verisimilitude and fictions whose authors reverse history to contemplate utopia and dystopia in the future Thus historical fiction can be organized under the rubrics The Distant Mirror The Turning Point The Way It Was and The Way It Will Be This fourfold schema and his focus on postwar novels set Cowart's work apart from previous studies which have not devoted adequate space to the contemporary historical novel Cowart argues that postwar historical fiction merits more extensive treatment because it is the product of an age unique in the annals of history an age in which history itself may end

The Rhetoric of Antinuclear Fiction Patrick Mannix, 1992 Given the ever present threat of world wide calamity that nuclear weapons present it is not surprising that they have fascinated fiction writers and filmmakers ever since their development Nor is it surprising that many of these artists would seek to use their work to influence mass opinion about these weapons What may be surprising is that few studies have been made of how antinuclear fiction actually attempts to persuade its audiences The Rhetoric of Antinuclear Fiction is an effort to do so Organized around the three traditional modes of rhetorical appeal the ethical the rational and the emotional the book describes and classifies the persuasive strategies of a wide range of antinuclear fiction from the period 1945 to 1989 Works examined include On the Beach Fail Safe A Canticle for Leibowitz Dr Strangelove The Day After War Day Testament Threads and Riddley Walker During the course of these studies Patrick Mannix reveals what sorts of fictional characters have been most widely used to deliver antinuclear messages and he follows the major arguments of the nuclear debate as they have been reflected in fiction He also shows which emotions are invoked most often to secure the audience's opposition to nuclear weapons and how those emotions have been generated by the creators of antinuclear fiction The range of characters that this volume examines includes the pacifistic but loyal Air Force general of Fail Safe the pious but shrewd monks of A Canticle for Leibowitz the suburban housewife of Threads and even the computer of War games which teaches humanity the folly of nuclear war We also follow fictional manifestations of the nuclear debate from veiled arguments for world government in The Day the Earth Stood Still through warnings of the dangers of Mutual Assured Destruction depicted by Fail Safe Dr Strangelove and Wargames to attacks on the concepts of limited nuclear war and the Strategic Defense Initiative in War Day This study also demonstrates the dynamic of fear in works as diverse as Ape and Essence The Day After and Them and dissects the powerful use of scorn in Dr Strangelove It also shows us the paradoxical role of hope in securing the effectiveness of antinuclear fiction While maintaining his focus on the persuasive nature of this literature Mannix does consider the aesthetic value of the fiction he studies noting that the relationship between the two elements is complex and often problematical While admitting that the aesthetic elements of some works would limit their audience and therefore reduce the scope of their rhetorical effect he demonstrates how the skillful combination of artistic and rhetorical elements raises a film like Dr Strangelove above the similarly themed Fail Safe as both a persuasive act and an aesthetic artifact
