The White Spaces of Kenyan Settler Writing

Terrence L. Craig, 2017-03-27 The White Spaces of Kenyan Settler Writing provides an overview of Kenyan literature by white writers in the half century before Independence in 1964. Such literature has been overshadowed by that of black writers to the point of critical ostracism. It deserves attention for its own sake as the expression of a community that hoped for permanence but suffered both disappointment and dispossession. It deserves attention for its articulation of an increasingly desperate colonial and Imperial situation at a time when both were being attacked and abandoned in Africa as in other colonies elsewhere and when a counter discourse was being constructed by writers in Britain as well as in Africa. Kenya was likely the best known twentieth century colony for it attracted publicity for its iconic safaris and its Happy Valley scandals. Yet behind such scenes were settlers who had taken over lands from the native peoples and who were trying to make a future for themselves based on the labour willing or forced of those people. This situation can be seen as a microcosm of one colonial exercise and can illuminate the historical tensions of such times. The bibliography is an attempt to collect the literary resources of white Kenya in this historically significant period.

Wonders of Zebras

Vincent Scuro, 1983 Describes the evolution of zebras, their physical characteristics, behavior, natural habitat, and the efforts of conservationists to help them survive in an increasingly hostile environment.

Play Fighting Owen Aldis, 2013-10-22

Play Fighting considers the possible benefits of play for humans and animals. This book is divided into two main topics: animal play and human play. In these topics, this text specifically discusses the definition, evolution, and function of play; criteria of chasing and play fighting; function of laughter in human play; and spurious correlation between exploratory and playful species. The surplus energy and catharsis theories of play; vestibular stimulation acting as a reinforcer; function of mother-infant play; and properties of play fear and serious fear stimuli are also elaborated. This compilation likewise covers the puzzling blind spots of child psychology: play and child rearing; and play fear of monsters. This publication is a good source for students and individuals interested in the survival value of play for animals and healthy development of children.
