Assisting Seniors at Home Gretchen Mary Rose, 2020. Most families in need of assistance for senior caregiving have two questions: Can you please help us? How do we go about this? We don't even know where to start. This is the overshadowing climate that exists until a navigational chart is presented. Assisting Seniors at Home: A Planning Guide for Families and Caregivers is designed to harmonize the unique perspectives and roles of the three entities involved: the seniors, the family, and hired caregivers. Each role is described with specific intervention priorities for our aging family members. Within this guide, there are two skill level indicators: one for the general aging population and another for those with dementia. Each provides a clear description of specific needs as changes occur. This is the compass by which all family members may intercede proactively to bring seniors from early intervention to the final stages of hospice care. The skill level indicator is the most valuable element as it designates the amount of care needed, how to establish a care plan, and when to make necessary changes. In summary, this adds up to effective in-home care, inclusive of home modifications and safety as a top priority for all involved.

with the Aging Family addresses the unmet needs of care managers working with aging clients as well as the client's entire family. With its in-depth focus on the aging family system, this book fills a gap for medical case managers and geriatric care managers, giving them tools to better meet the treatment goals of aging clients and their families as the older clients move through the continuum of care in institutional-based settings or community-based settings. Care Managers Working With the Aging Family uniquely focuses on helping the entire family unit through the process of death and dying, helping midlife siblings to work together to render care to aging parents. It adds proven techniques to the care manager repertoire, such as family meetings, forgiveness technology, and care giver assessment. It offers multiple tools to do an effective care plan so that both the needs of the family and the older client are met.
