China is undergoing the largest, fastest and longest process of population ageing in the world. It becomes a pressing challenge to the Chinese social security system in this era. Many developed countries have been going through this process. Pension and other financial tools have been studied and practiced for decades. China now is developing its own ageing finance systems by learning from other countries' experiences and making innovations to suit the country's request. Finance, a field that deals with the study of investments and the science of money management, is the most important tool to manage this situation. And hence, Ageing finance has been developed into an independent area for research and practice. It helps the country adapt to new elderly support systems, which is the necessary result from China's admirable economic development and changes in population structure. Ageing finance is the sum of financial activities centered on various social needs of providing for the aged and serving for their society. It includes pension finance, old age wealth management service and finance of ageing industry. Chinese government and people are facing a very unique situation as our population structure is deeply changed by the One Child Policy since the late 70s. The slope of ageing curve is sharper than most countries, yet it has achieved the most successful economic development in the world during the same period. Academic researchers, financial practitioners and policy makers will find this book to be essential reading as they study this process and look forward to new theories, innovations and lessons raised from it. Buyographics Matt Carmichael, 2013-11-12 Author Matt Carmichael has been tracking demographic shifts for years and provides a data-rich look at the changing American consumer. This book follows ten families in ten representative counties to examine their lives and how the decisions they make impact consumer behavior. This is not just a data book because in the end, each of those numbers in datasets, big and small, is a person. As you read those stories, the trends come to life and give you a greater understanding of how to reach your target, whether it's a baby boomer farmer in Teton, Montana, or a set of working parents in one of the most affluent counties in the US. Carmichael focuses on the top ten trends that are reshaping the consumer landscape and impacting buying behavior and the economic outlook of the world's most important market. For each trend, he provides ethnographic research from the families, stats from the leading consumer data sources and exclusive interviews and examples from marketers, agencies and media executives. These trends show how America is aging, growing more diverse ethnically and becoming more polarized economically. Buyographics is a smart, engaging read that will be important for every marketer to consider before creating a successful campaign. Elderly Crime and Victimization Manish Joshi, 2025-02-20 Elderly Crime and Victimization: Perspectives offers a comprehensive examination of crimes committed against and by the elderly.
