Methodism and American Empire David William Scott,Filipe Fernandes R. Maia,2024-01-31 Living into a less colonial way of being together Methodism and American Empire investigates historical trajectories and theological developments that connect American imperialism since World War II to the Methodist tradition as a global movement The volume asks to what extent is United Methodists vision of the globe marred by American imperialism Through historical analyses and theological reflections this volume chronicles the formation of an understanding of The United Methodist Church since the mid 20th century that is both global and at the same time dominated by American interests and concerns Methodism and American Empire provides a historical and theological perspective to understand the current context of The United Methodist Church while also raising ecclesiological questions about the impact of imperialism on how Methodists have understood the nature and mission of the church over the last century Gathering voices and perspectives from around the world this volume suggests that the project of global Methodism and the tensions one witnesses therein ought to be understood in the context of American imperialism and that such an understanding is critical to the task of continuing to be a global denomination The volume tells a tale of complex negotiations happening between United Methodists across different national cultural and ecclesial contexts and sets up the historical backdrop for the imminent schism of The United Methodist Church Mission and Development Matthew Clarke, 2012-01-26 This book considers the implications consequences opportunities and constraints faced when mission and development endeavours coincide This is explored from various perspectives including that of history theology and those involved in mission work and missionary organizations Despite eighty per cent of the world's population professing religious belief religion has been largely excluded from consideration of those seeking to achieve development in poorer countries Moreover the work of missionaries has often involved the provision of basic welfare services that in many parts of the world predate the interventions undertaken by professional secular aid workers Are missionaries doing development work or is development a critical aspect of mission God's Mission in Asia Ken Christoph Miyamoto, 2007-06-15 Ecumenism in postwar Asia institutionalized in the Christian Conference of Asia displayed a remarkable this worldliness from its inception in the 1940s This tendency was in contrast to the tension between the church centric and world centric approaches to Christian mission that marked conciliar mission thinking in the West This work examines the development of such this worldly holiness in Asian ecumenism focusing on M M Thomas of India and C S Song from Taiwan Special attention is drawn to the idea of God's this worldly presence that considers God as redemptively at work in world history apart from the church The study first compares the development of this worldly holiness in the West and Asia and then examines the thinking of Thomas and Song The chapters on these two theologians discuss their backgrounds the basic concerns motivating their intellectual searches and responses to the questions arising from such concerns These chapters also try to understand how these theologians view the relationship between God and the world In so doing the study highlights the significance of the idea of God's this worldly presence shared by Thomas and Song in spite of differences in their backgrounds approaches and theological formulations Having compared Thomas and Song the study concludes that the idea of God's this worldly presence became central to Asian ecumenism because it offered a common unifying vision to Asian Christians who come from a region characterized by tremendous diversity The idea helped them to see the diverse peoples cultures and religions in Asia under one God who transcends the diversity and still takes it seriously Called and Empowered Murray W. Dempster, Byron D. Klaus, Douglas Petersen, 1991-10-01 An unprecedented mix of pentecostal theology and mission practice virtually a manifesto for pentecostal missions The fullest and finest missiological treatise originating within classical Pentecostalism available Russell P Spittler The Ecumenical Movement Michael Kinnamon, Brian E.
