Capitalism and Social Progress P. Brown, H. Lauder, 2001-02-13
Why are America and Britain wealthier than ever but millions of children live in poverty neighbourhoods want for basic amenities and the middle classes fear for their families jobs and futures The answer is not to be found in globalization technological innovation or our personal failings to adapt to changing circumstances as we are so often told The answer lies mainly with the historical legacy of the golden era and the obsession with market individualism An obsession that the New Democrats in America and the New Labour in Britain have failed to exorcize Yet the forces of knowledge driven capitalism provide an unprecedented opportunity at the beginning of the twenty first century to build societies based on the individual and collective intelligence of all Capitalism and Social Progress shows how this can be achieved Education for All? Cathie Jo Martin,2023-09-21 Investigates how nineteenth century fiction writers influenced the creation of public school systems in Denmark and Great Britain Handbook of Research in the Social Foundations of Education Steven Tozer,Bernardo P. Social Control and the Education of Adults in the Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries J. Jeffrey Robinson,2013 An almost universal concern of the Victorian governing classes was with the question of social control how to deflect a largely uneducated working class from their inevitable challenge to the centres of power accepted value systems and existing authority structures The fear in which the masses were held by the middle and upper classes came to dominate access to education or more accurately to what they defined as useful knowledge since this was designed to instil the values of a just and ordered society Conversely for the working class it would give them power power over their own lives and in so doing provide access to that social hierarchy currently valued by the governing minority This book addresses the role of the providers of education alongside the responses of those for whom it was intended It discusses the provision of educational initiatives and the frequent attenuation of their founding objectives It assesses the utility of the strategies of power and control adopted by the providers in order to maintain an upper class ideology Though evidence is discussed in a national context it is supported by additional data from a rural county both for the purpose of comparative analysis and in order to add character and hear the true voice of the men and women involved
