Mental Disorders in Popular Film Erin Heath, 2019-02-28 Contemporary Hollywood films commonly use mental disorders as a magnifier by which social political or economic problems become enlarged in order to critique societal conditions Cinema has a long history of amplifying human emotion or experience for dramatic effect The heightened representations of people with mental disorder often elide one category of literal truths for the benefit of different moral or emotional reasons With films like Fight Club The Silence of the Lambs The Dark Knight and Black Swan this book addresses characters identified by film or media as people who are crazy mentally ill developmentally delayed insane have autism spectrum disorder associative personality disorder or who have other mental disorders Despite the vast array of differences in people's experiences film often marginalizes people with mental disorders in ways that make it important to be inclusive of these varied experiences These characters also commonly become subject to the structures of hierarchy and control that actual people with mental disorders encounter Cinematic patterns of control and oppression heavily influence the narratives of those considered crazy by the outside world Home Invasion Horrors Ryan Izay, 2025-07-11 Home invasion narratives have been around nearly as long as cinema itself popularized by the silent era's race to the rescue movies and classic Hollywood's gangster raid films and influenced by the slasher and stalker sub genres They emerged as a fully formed sub genre following the success of major releases like The Strangers 2008 and The Purge 2013 with more than 100 such films issued in the 2010s alone Commonalities and differences can be found in the home invasion films featuring criminals stalkers and psychopaths in addition to the inverted and hybrid releases that revise established narratives This book examines the history cinematic and societal influences and reasons for the popularity of home invasion films offering potential allegorical readings of the narratives and a comprehensive list of these films Cinema and Brexit Neil Archer, 2020-09-03 Neil Archer's original study makes a timely and politically engaged intervention in debates about national cinema and national identity Structured around key examples of culturally English cinema in the years up to and following the UK's 2016 vote to leave the European Union Cinema and Brexit looks to make sense of the peculiarities and paradoxes marking this era of filmmaking At the same time as providing a contextual and analytical reading of 21st century filmmaking in Britain Archer raises critical questions about popular national cinema and how Brexit has cast both light and shadow over this body of films Central to Archer's argument is the idea that Brexit represents not just a critical moment in how we will understand future film production but also in how we will understand production of the recent past Using as a point of departure the London Olympics opening ceremony of 2012 Cinema and Brexit considers the tensions inherent in a wide range of films including Skyfall 2012 Dunkirk 2017 Their Finest 2017 Darkest Hour 2017 The Crown Netflix 2016 Paddington 2014 Paddington 2 2017 Never Let Me Go 2011 Absolutely Fabulous The Movie 2016 The Trip 2010 The Inbetweeners Movie 2011 Mr Bean's Holiday 2007 The World's End 2013 Sightseers 2012 One Day 2011 Attack the Block 2011 King Arthur Legend of the Sword 2017 and The Kid Who Would be King 2019 Archer examines the complex national narratives and representations these films expound situating his analyses within the broader commercial contexts of film production beyond Hollywood highlighting the negotiations or contradictions at play between the industrial imperatives of contemporary films and the varied circumstances in which they are made Considering some of the ways a popular and globally minded English cinema is finding means to work alongside and through the contexts of Brexit he questions what are the stakes for and possibilities of a global culturally English cinema in 2019 and beyond
