The Social Construction of Reality Peter L. Berger, Thomas Luckmann, 1967-07-11 Called the fifth most important sociological book of the 20th century by the International Sociological Association this groundbreaking study of knowledge introduces the concept of social construction into the social sciences for the first time In it Berger and Luckmann reformulate the task of the sociological subdiscipline that since Max Scheler has been known as the sociology of knowledge

Reality Construction in Society Burkart Holzner, 1972 Reality Construction in Society Burkart Holzner, 1968 Social Mindsapes Eviatar Zerubavel, 1999-10-15 Why do we eat sardines but never goldfish ducks but never parrots Why does adding cheese make a hamburger a cheeseburger whereas adding ketchup does not make it a ketchupburger By the same token how do we determine which things said at a meeting should be included in the minutes and which ought to be considered off the record and officially disregarded In this wide ranging and provocative book Eviatar Zerubavel argues that cognitive science cannot answer these questions since it addresses cognition on only two levels the individual and the universal To fill the gap between the Romantic vision of the solitary thinker whose thoughts are the product of unique experience and the cognitive psychological view which revolves around the search for the universal foundations of human cognition Zerubavel charts an expansive social realm of mind a domain that focuses on the conventional normative aspects of the way we think With witty anecdote and revealing analogy Zerubavel illuminates the social foundation of mental actions such as perceiving attending classifying remembering assigning meaning and reckoning the time What takes place inside our heads he reminds us is deeply affected by our social environments which are typically groups that are larger than the individual yet considerably smaller than the human race Thus we develop a nonuniversal software for thinking as Americans or Chinese lawyers or teachers Catholics or Jews Baby Boomers or Gen Xers Zerubavel explores the fascinating ways in which thought communities carve up and classify reality assign meanings and perceive things defamiliarizing in the process many taken for granted assumptions

The Social Construction of Reality Peter L. Berger, Thomas Luckmann, 2011-04-26 A watershed event in the field of sociology this text introduced a major breakthrough in the sociology of knowledge and sociological theory generally George Simpson American Sociological Review In this seminal book Peter L Berger and Thomas Luckmann examine how knowledge forms and how it is preserved and altered within a society Unlike earlier theorists and philosophers Berger and Luckmann go beyond intellectual history and focus on commonsense everyday knowledge the proverbs morals values and beliefs shared among ordinary people When first published in 1966 this systematic theoretical treatise introduced the term social construction effectively creating a new thought and transforming Western philosophy our social economic political biological and physical realities but how it can also construct completely new ones Software Development and Reality Construction Christiane Floyd, Heinz Züllighoven, Reinhard Budde, Reinhard Keil-Slawik, 2012-12-06 The present book is based on the conference Software Development and Reality Construction held at Schloß Eringerfeld in Germany September 25-30 1988 This was organized by the Technical University of Berlin TUB in cooperation with the German National Research Center for Computer Science GMD Sankt Augustin and sponsored by the Volkswagen Foundation whose financial support we gratefully acknowledge The conference was an interdisciplinary scientific and cultural event aimed at promoting discussion on the nature of computer science as a scientific discipline and on the theoretical foundations and systemic practice required for human oriented system design In keeping with the conversational style of the conference the book comprises a series of individual contributions arranged so as to form a coherent whole Some authors reflect on their practice in computer science and system design Others start from approaches developed in the humanities and the social sciences for understanding human learning and creativity individual and cooperative work and the interrelation between technology and organizations Thus each contribution makes its specific point and can be read on its own merit But at the same time it takes its place as a chapter in the book along with all the other contributions to give what seemed to us a meaningful overall line of argumentation This required careful editorial coordination and we are grateful to all the authors for bearing with us throughout the slow genesis of the book and for complying with our requests for extensive revision of some of the manuscripts The Communicative Construction of Reality Hubert Knoblauch, 2019-12-06 This volume advocates a shift from the social constructivism found in the work of Thomas Luckmann and Peter Berger to a communicative constructivism that acknowledges communication as an embodied form of action in its own right according to which social actors in engaging in communicative action construct a material social reality that guides delimits and enables actions A study of the importance of understanding the role of communication in an age in which digitization and mediatization have extended the reach of communication to a global level and brought about the emergence of the communication society The Communicative Construction of Reality shows how communication society does not merely replace modern society and its hierarchical institutions but complements it in a manner that continually results in conflicts leading to the refiguration of society As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology with interests in the sociology of knowledge communication and social theory The Construction of Reality Michael A. Arbib, Mary B. Hesse, 1986-11-28 This book presents an integrated account of how humans construct reality through interaction with the social and physical world around them The Linguistic Construction of Reality George William Grace, 1987 The Construction of Social Reality John R. Searle, 1995 John Searle has a distinctive intellectual style It combines razor sharp analysis with a swaggering chip on the shoulder impudence that many of his opponents might find intolerably abrasive were it not for the good humour that pervades all he writes This is a man who likes a good philosophical brawl New Scientist The Mediated Construction of Reality Nick

Couldry, Andreas Hepp, 2018-03-15 Social theory needs to be completely rethought in a world of digital media and social media platforms driven by data processes Fifty years after Berger and Luckmann published their classic text The Social Construction of Reality two leading sociologists of media Nick Couldry and Andreas Hepp revisit the question of how social theory can understand the processes through which an everyday world is constructed in and through media Drawing on Schatzel Elias and many other social and media theorists they ask what are the implications of digital media's profound involvement in those processes Is the result a social world that is stable and liveable or one that is increasingly unstable and unliveable
