Saras City:

City of Health, Fields of Disease Martin Wallen, 2017-03-02 The Romantic Era witnessed a series of conflicts concerning definitions of health and disease In this book Martin Wallen discusses those conflicts and the cultural values that drove them The six chapters progress from the mainstream rejuvenation of the Socratic values by Wordsworth and Coleridge to the radical alternatives offered by the Scottish theorist John Brown and the speculative German philosopher F W J Schelling Wallen shows how actual definitions of health and disease changed at the turn of the nineteenth century and provides an analysis of the metaphorical uses to which romantic thinkers put these different definitions in their attempts to value or devalue competing concepts of individuality poetic expression and history Key to the redefinition of these concepts was the use of the rhetoric of medicine to add value to those statements considered desirable and to undermine those targeted for elimination from public discourse By juxtaposing the well known critical works of Wordsworth and Coleridge with lesser known works such as Schelling's Yearbooks of Medicine and Thomas Beddoes medical treatises Wallen illuminates the central role medicine played in redefining the human being's relationship to society and nature part of the cultural revolution that began in the nineteenth century United States Summary, 2000 ,2003 Temple City- Kancheepuram D.

Varsha, 2025-05-22 Kancheepuram a city where every stone tells a story every temple whispers of divinity and time itself pauses in reverence Temple City Kancheepuram is a lyrical journey through one of South India's most sacred and architecturally resplendent cities From the soaring gopurams of Ekambareswarar to the serene sandstone carvings of Kailasanathar this book weaves together history art mythology and devotion Through vivid descriptions rare insights and cultural depth it brings to life the living heritage of a city once hailed as the Spiritual Capital of South India Whether you are a seeker of beauty a student of history or a pilgrim at heart this book invites you to walk the timeless corridors of Kancheepuram where stone breathes and the sacred endures City of My Heart ,2018-09-18 Dilli Hindustan ka Dil Through nuanced translations of four Urdu narratives spanning the period of turmoil that led to the Revolt of 1857 and culminated in the fall of the Mughal Empire this compelling volume reveals the tragic and affecting story of a royalty in decline Vividly documenting the twilight years of not just a historical era but also an entire way of life these first hand accounts gleaned from princes and paupers alike provide rare insight into how the royals and their subjects experienced life on either side of the cataclysm Tales of suffering describe the perfidy of the British and the plight of the last royals as they are disbanded and pushed into dire poverty livelier accounts of fealty and treachery detail palace intrigues and nostalgic reminiscences recreate the days of past glory and communal comity of feasting and festivals and shared faith and devotion An intimate chronicle of a crucial era in India's history City of My Heart is the saga of a changing city and a people experiencing the end of life as they know it Hazleton (Luzerne and Schuylkill Counties, PA) City Directory ,1993 City

Architecture, Festival and the City Jemma Browne,Christian Frost,Ray Lucas,2018-10-26 Historically the urban festival served as an occasion for affirming shared convictions and identities in the life of the city Whether religious or civic in nature these events provided tangible expressions of social cultural political and religious cohesion often reaffirming a particular shared ethos within diverse urban landscapes Architecture has long served as a key aspect of this process exhibiting continuity in the flux of these representations through the parading of elaborate ceremonial floats the construction of temporary buildings the dressing of existing urban space the alternative occupations of the everyday and the construction of new buildings and spaces which then become a part of the background fabric of the city This book examines how festivals can be used as a lens to examine the relationship between city and citizen and questions whether this is fixed through time or has been transformed as a response to changes in the modern urban condition Architecture Festival and the City looks at the multilayered nature of a diverse selection of festivals and the way they incorporate both orderly authoritative and disorderly subversive components The aim is to reveal how the civic nature of urban space is utilised through festival to represent ideas of belonging and identity Recent political and social gatherings also raise questions about the relationship of these events to ritual and whether traditional practices can serve as meaningful references in the twenty first century
