Mathew And Margins:

Matthew and the Margins Warren Carter, 2000 This verse by verse commentary presents the Gospel of Matthew as a counter narrative that shapes the group of Jesus followers as an alternative community able to resist the dominant authorities both in Rome and in the synagogue The Gospel anticipates the time when Jesus will return and establish God's reign over all including the powers in Rome Breaking Matthew into five narrative blocks Carter carefully considers historical literary cultural and ecclesial factors as he explores the themes of marginality and power A masterful introduction outlines these approaches and surveys other studies on Matthew

God Will Judge Each One According to Works Kyoung-Shik Kim, 2011 This monograph provides a fresh perspective on judgment according to works by challenging both the majority scholarly view and the new perspective advocated by E P Sanders James D G Dunn and N T Wright Employing intertextuality and early Jewish mediation of scripture this study examines the idea of judgment according to works with reference to Psalm 62 13 in early Jewish literature and the New Testament The originality of this study is to highlight the significance of Psalm 62 13 in the context of judgment according to works and to argue that the texts dealing with judgment according to works in the New Testament are to be understood as interpretations of Psalm 62 13 and its broad context

Regulating Pharmaceutical Prices in India Ajay Bhaskarabhatla, 2018-08-01 This book presents an extensive study on the effectiveness of recent regulations on pharmaceutical prices in India exploring the weaknesses in the design and implementation of pharmaceutical price controls and investigating what can be done to fix the broken system In addition it examines the extent to which essential medicines are actually made affordable by price controls The book argues that companies make the pharmaceutical price control regime largely ineffective by coordinating to increase pre regulation prices by diversifying horizontally away from the regulated markets and increasing prices in the unregulated markets by manipulating trade margins and by refusing to comply with the regulation because the penalties remains negligible The book draws on extensive empirical research involving India's 2013 Drug Price Control Order and widely used medicines such as paracetamol and metformin to illustrate how firms have weakened regulation It argues that the regulatory regime can be strengthened by using systematic analysis of product and region level data in the Indian pharmaceutical industry and by screening for the strategies that firms currently employ to circumvent regulation In closing it discusses recent efforts to strengthen the implementation of price controls in India and expanding the scope of price controls to medical devices

Powering Empire On Barak, 2020-03-24 The Age of Empire was driven by coal and the Middle East as an idea was made by coal Coal's imperial infrastructure presaged the geopolitics of oil that wreaks carnage today as carbonization threatens our very climate Powering Empire argues that we cannot promote worldwide decarbonization without first understanding the history of the globalization of carbon energy How did this black rock come to have such long-lasting power over the world economy Focusing on the flow of British carbon energy to the Middle East On Barak excavates the historic nexus between coal and empire to reveal the political and military motives behind what is conventionally seen as a technological innovation He provocatively recounts the carbon-intensive entanglements of Western and non-Western powers and reveals unfamiliar resources such as Islamic risk aversion and Gandhian vegetarianism for a climate justice that relies on more diverse and ethical solutions worldwide

The Matthean Community and the World James P. Grimshaw, 2008 This study of the Matthean narrative uses the interpretive lens of food exchange to explore the Matthean community's relationship with the wider world While many studies depict this community as withdrawing from or in conflict with the larger society James P. Grimshaw's focus on the daily need for food reveals a community that while distinct progressively integrates itself into the larger Jewish and Gentile society and the natural world In addition this view of community corresponds to the view of a God who actively provides for and relates to all creation Grimshaw's alternative portrayal of the Matthean community whose interactions with its surrounding environment are more complex and sustained than often imagined is a compelling interpretation for today's stratified and disconnected world Along the Integral Margin Stephen Campbell, 2022-08-15

In recent years anthropologists have focused on informal unfree and other nonnormative labor arrangements and labeled them as noncapitalist. In Along the Integral Margin Stephen Campbell pushes back against this idea and shows that these labor arrangements are in fact important aspects of capitalist development and that the erroneous noncapitalist label contributes to obscuring current capitalist relations. Through powerful intimate ethnographic narratives of the lives and struggles of residents of a squatter settlement in Myanmar, Campbell challenges narrow conceptions of capitalism and asserts that nonnormative labor is not marginal but rather centrally important to Myanmar's economic development. Campbell's narrative approach brings individuals who are often marginalized in accounts of contemporary Myanmar to the forefront and raises questions about the diversity of work in capitalism. European Garden Flora Stuart Max Walters, James Cullen, 1984

The European Garden Flora is the definitive manual for the accurate identification of cultivated ornamental plants. It is designed to meet the highest scientific standards but the vocabulary is kept as uncomplicated as possible so that it is fully accessible to the informed gardener and landscape architect as well as to the professional botanists. Although based upon Europe, the series will be an extremely useful reference on plants in cultivation throughout the world. Families, genera, and species are described; keys are provided and guidance is given on the cultivation of each genus. Volume I is the first in a series of six; it contains accounts of the ferns and their allies, the conifers, and 16 families of monocotyledons including the Liliaceae, Amaryllidaceae, and Iridaceae, to which most of the popular bulbous garden plants belong. Imperial Powers and Humanitarian Interventions Raphaël Cheriau, 2021-05-03 In the second half of the nineteenth century the Zanzibar Sultanate became the focal point of European imperial and humanitarian policies, most notably Britain, France, and Germany. In fact, the Sultanate was one of the few places in the world where humanitarianism and imperialism met in the most obvious fashion. This crucial encounter was perfectly embodied by the iconic meeting of Dr. Livingstone and Henry Morton Stanley in 1871. This book challenges the common presumption that those humanitarian concerns only served to conceal vile colonial interests. It brings the repression of the East African slave trade at sea and the expansion of empires into a new light by comparing French and British archives for the first time. Raphaël Cheriau argues that the brutal power politics of recent humanitarian interventions have shaped historians' perspectives on earlier interventions but that he is able to escape these present-day sensibilities in his approach to British and French interventions in nineteenth-century eastern Africa. While I might challenge that suggestion, nonetheless he offers historians a valuable book that explores in detail the way imperialists of the nineteenth century did and did not use humanitarianism as a justification for their work in eastern Africa. Elisabeth MacMahon, The English Historical Review. The author weaves together a rich trove of primary documents from both British and French archives; some of these have been fruitfully exploited by previous historians, others reflect Cheriau's energetic digging to go beyond the obvious. He also draws upon an equally dense corpus of published primary sources in both languages as well as several contemporary newspapers while his mastery of the secondary literature is impressive Edward Alpers Australian Institute of International Affairs Countries and Regions Guang Yang,Jing Zhang,Lanyu Liu,Xinghan Xiong,2024-08-22 This open access book aims to present the cutting edge research of scholars from the Global South where scholars from developing countries have begun to join in the production of knowledges of Area Studies and have produced a large body of excellent works of Area Studies based on a variety of disciplines Articles of this book have been developed from 11 papers which were presented at the 2nd Tsinghua Area Studies Forum to represent a range of area studies subjects and regions The book is divided into five chapters that either analyze regional country issues regions in the world from the perspective of global linkages and cross regional linkages or discuss internal issues such as national governance ethnicity economy and civil war using the nation state as the unit of analysis
