Matters Of Moment Materials For Language Practice:

The Matter of Practice Curt Porter, Rachel Griffo, 2021-05-01 The Matter of Practice presents work by teacher scholars from around the world who are rethinking the relationship between matter and meaning By emphasizing spatial bodily and sensual dimensions of language and literacy practices this volume offers a portrait of language pedagogy and research that challenges traditional barriers between subjects and objects speech and noise and languages and things We envision the term new materialisms as an invitation to locate theorizing researching and teaching practices within the rhythms and textures of our material sensory and perceptual lives These chapters enact a hope that increased engagement with our physical surroundings and sensory experiences can extend the sphere of our social creative and intellectual labor and expand our understanding of what counts as meaningful action

Material Matters Katie Lloyd Thomas, 2006-12-05 Bringing together texts and work by theorists and practitioners who are making material central to their work this book reflects the diverse areas of inquiry which are expanding current material discourse Focusing on the cultural political economic technological and intellectual forces which shape material practices in architecture the contributors draw on disciplines ranging from philosophy history and pedagogy to art practice and digital and low tech fabrication By paying critical attention to material a wide range of issues emerge which are otherwise excluded from architectural discourse issues that shape and determine the buildings we make the processes we use and the ways we understand them Beautifully illustrated and designed this book is a unique collection which will be of great interest to architectural practitioners and theorists who want to consider the wider implications of material practice and to students who are developing their own approach to making buildings

Issues in Materials Development Maryam Azarnoosh, Mitra Zeraatpishe, Akram Faravani, Hamid Reza Kargozari, 2016-03-22 Issues in Materials Development provides readers with theoretical foundations and practical aspects of designing materials for EFL ESL contexts It starts with discussing some basic and preliminary principles of materials design followed by scrutinizing critical issues in materials development in an objective and systematic way This ranges from considering learners needs adopting adapting selection and gradation of materials to the specific focus of the book on developing various types of materials for the four language skills pronunciation ESP vocabulary and computer assisted language learning materials Authenticity of materials to be designed and the inclusion of affective factors to develop motivating materials to engage language learners in addition to features of materials design at a universal level are other areas to read about This book finally tries to open new horizons and possible futuristic approaches to improve today s ELT materials Sites of Translation Laura Gonzales,2018-09-24 Winner of the 2016 Sweetland Digital Rhetoric Collaborative Book Prize Sites of Translation illustrates the intricate rhetorical work that multilingual communicators engage in as they translate information for their communities Blending ethnographic and empirical methods from multiple disciplines Laura Gonzales provides methodological examples of how linguistic diversity can be studied in practice both in and outside the classroom and provides insights into the rhetorical labor that is often unacknowledged and made invisible in multilingual communication Sites of Translation is relevant to researchers and teachers of writing as well as technology designers interested in creating systems pedagogies and platforms that will be more accessible and useful to multilingual audiences Gonzales presents multilingual communication as intellectual labor that should be further valued in both academic and professional spaces and supported by multilingual technologies and pedagogies that center the expertise of linguistically diverse communicators How Scientific Practices Matter Joseph Rouse,2002 How can we understand the world as a whole instead of separate natural and human realms Joseph T Rouse proposes an approach to this classic problem based on radical new conceptions of both philosophical naturalism and scientific practice Rouse begins with a detailed critique of modern thought on naturalism from Neurath and Heidegger to Charles Taylor Thomas Kuhn and W V O Quine He identifies two constraints central to a philosophically robust naturalism it must impose no arbitrarily philosophical restrictions on science and it must shun even the most subtle appeals to mysterious or supernatural forces Thus a naturalistic approach requires philosophers to show that their preferred conception of nature is what scientific inquiry discloses and that their conception of scientific understanding is itself intelligible as part of the natural world Finally Rouse draws on feminist science studies and other recent work on causality and discourse to demonstrate the crucial role that closer attention to scientific practice can play in reclaiming naturalism A bold and ambitious book How Scientific Practices Matter seeks to provide a viable yet nontraditional defense of a naturalistic conception of philosophy and science Its daring proposals will spark much discussion and debate among philosophers historians and sociologists of science Discourse : Event : Practice Franka Schäfer,2025-10-14 With Discourse Event Practice the author presents a dynamic theoretical program for a discourse theoretically informed sociology of practice oriented toward the concept of the event She outlines the sociological relationship between the concepts of discourse event and practice diagnoses their distorted relationship and explains the dynamization of dichotomous conceptions as the guiding principle of her argumentation Through a reconstruction of the discourse theoretical foundations the practical theoretical conditions the situation of the method discussion and the starting point of sociological protest research she forms the basis of the research program and marks the question of the association of discourses and practices as a gap which is elucidated using the example of protest research The core of the book is a nuanced examination of the concept of event developed from the influence of Foucault as a primary basis for transformation and translated into a concept of event that ensures a relationship between discourse and practice that overcomes dichotomies within a post structuralist materialism In addition the potential of the program lies in the expansion of practice studies to include an explicit perspective on power and domination illustrated through an analysis of the practices of resistance as exemplified by the Yippie Festival of Life

Practices of Ephemera in Early Modern England Callan Davies,Hannah Lilley,Catherine Richardson,2023-02-03 This collection is the first to historicise the term ephemera and its meanings for early modern England and considers its relationship to time matter and place It asks how do we conceive of ephemera in a period before it was routinely employed from the eighteenth century to describe ostensibly disposable print In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries when objects and texts were rapidly proliferating the term began to acquire its modern association with transitoriness But contributors to this volume show how ephemera was also integrally related to wider social and cultural ecosystems Chapters explore those ecosystems and think about the papers and artefacts that shaped homes streets and cities or towns and their attendant preservation loss or transformation The studies here therefore look beyond static records to think about moments of process and transmutation and accordingly get closer to early modern experiences identities and practices Language Issues in

Comparative Education II Carol Benson,Kimmo Kosonen,2021-01-25 This second volume of Language Issues in Comparative Education following the tradition of the first introduces the state of the field re establishes core terminology and concepts and situates the chapters in terms of their contributions to multilingual education based on non dominant languages The first group of chapters examines language in education policy change applying an innovative framework to analyze diverse contexts including Mozambique Estonia and the Philippines The next group of chapters describes activities designed to implement multilingual education Using examples from Chad Ethiopia Kenya and Nepal they explore progress in teacher professional development and elaboration of materials for literacy and learning through non dominant languages Some highlight new areas of the field attending to speakers of non dominant languages other than the ones chosen for instruction and to the urgent multilingual needs of refugee learners The final group of chapters presents strategies for research and advocacy illustrated with examples from DR Congo Uganda and India Taken together these contributions form a cohesive body of work that takes stock of advances in multilingual education and moves the field forward The authors and editors share a common commitment to comparativism in their methods and analysis and aim to contribute to a more inclusive and multilingual education for all See inside the book Material Powers Tony Bennett,Patrick Joyce,2013-05-13 This edited collection is a major contribution to the current development of a material turn in the social sciences and humanities It does so by exploring new understandings of how power is made up and exercised by examining the role of material infrastructures in the organization of state power and the role of material cultural practices in the organization of colonial forms of governance A diverse range of historical examples is drawn on in illustrating these concerns from the role of territorial engineering projects in seventeenth century France through the development of the postal system in nineteenth century Britain to the relations between the state and road building in contemporary Peru for example The colonial contexts examined are similarly varied ranging from the role of photographic practices in the constitution of colonial power in India and the measurement of the bodies of the colonized in French colonial practices to the part played by the relations between museums and expeditions in the organization of Australian forms of colonial rule These specific concerns are connected to major critical re examination of the limits of the earlier formulations of cultural materialism and the logic of the cultural turn The collection brings together a group of key international scholars whose work has played a leading role in debates in and across the fields of history visual culture studies anthropology geography cultural studies museum studies and literary studies
