Hines, 2019-01-22 A comprehensive and fascinating look at the history of the Museum of Modern Art's Architecture and Design Department under the leadership of the influential curator Arthur Drexler Arthur Drexler 1921 1987 served as the curator and director of the Architecture and Design Department at the Museum of Modern Art MOMA from 1951 until 1986 the longest curatorship in the museum's history Over four decades he conceived and oversaw trailblazing exhibitions that not only reflected but also anticipated major stylistic developments Although several books cover the roles of MoMA's founding director Alfred Barr and the department's first curator Philip Johnson this is the only in depth study of Drexler who gave the department its overall shape and direction During Drexler's tenure MoMA played a pivotal role in examining the work and confirming the reputations of twentieth century architects among them Frank Lloyd Wright Le Corbusier Richard Neutra Marcel Breuer and Ludwig Mies van der Rohe Exploring unexpected subjects from the design of automobiles and industrial objects to a reconstruction of a Japanese house and garden Drexler's boundary pushing shows promoted new ideas about architecture and design as modern arts in contemporary society The department's public and educational programs projected a culture of popular accessibility offsetting MoMA's reputation as an elitist institution Drawing on rigorous archival research as well as author Thomas S Hines's firsthand experience working with Drexler Architecture and Design at the Museum of Modern Art analyzes how MoMA became a touchstone for the practice and study of midcentury architecture

Conservation of Modern Architecture Susan Macdonald, Kyle C. Normandin, Bob Kindred, 2015-12-08 The importance of protecting significant buildings from decay and destruction would seem to be undeniable Yet whilst the majority of buildings of merit constructed before the Second World War have been highlighted as worthy of protection there is much indifference and in some cases hostility towards many important post war buildings These deserve to receive wider formal recognition but in many cases continue to be mistreated or even demolished This book examines many of the philosophical and practical issues surrounding the conservation of modern buildings and also the problems faced by building practitioners in dealing with buildings constructed in a wider range of styles and materials than at any other time Climate change in particular has forced change in the way in which we think about buildings with the pressures to address issues of energy efficiency becoming more urgent and likely to have consequences that may alter the perceived architectural and historic interest of modern and traditional buildings alike

Modernist Semis and Terraces in England Finn Jensen, 2016-12-05 Between the two World Wars there was an unprecedented need for new houses in Britain which resulted in a building boom While only a small percentage of this building took the form of Modernism there was still a significant number of semis and terraces built for the workers and middle class families in the 1920s and 1930s built in this style This book examines these modest Modernist houses within the broader context of the Modern Movement in Europe as well as the inter war building boom in suburban Britain Illustrated with line drawings and photographs of more than 30 examples from around the country and based on little known contemporary material such as catalogues advertisements radio broadcasts and letters it shows how these houses speak of a time of political social and artistic unrest and a world where the avant garde architects sought to capture the spirit of modern technology in their designs for the average home owner While the Modernist houses never

became popular with the general public the fact that so many are still standing and now sought after by twenty first century families speak for their endurance and special appeal The British Architect ,1909 Encyclopedia of Contemporary British Culture Peter Childs,Michael Storry,2013-05-13 Boasting more than 970 alphabetically arranged entries the Encyclopedia of Contemporary British Culture surveys British cultural practices and icons in the latter half of the twentieth century It examines high and popular culture and encompasses both institutional and alternative aspects of British culture It provides insight into the whole spectrum of British contemporary life Topics covered include architecture pubs film internet and current takes on the monarchy Cross referencing and a thematic contents list enable readers to identify related articles The entries range from short biographical synopses to longer overview essays on key issues This Encyclopedia is essential reading for anyone interested in British culture It also provides a cultural context for students of English Modern History and Comparative European Studies Makers of 20th-Century Modern Architecture Donald Leslie Johnson,Donald Langmead,2013-05-13 Makers of 20th Century Modern Architecture is an indispensable reference book for the scholar student architect or layman interested in the architects who initiated developed or advanced modern architecture The book is amply illustrated and features the most prominent and influential people in 20th century modernist architecture including Wright Eisenman Mies van der Rohe and Kahn It describes the milieu in which they practiced their art and directs readers to information on the life and creative activities of these founding architects and their disciples The profiles of individual architects include critical analysis of their major buildings and projects Each profile is completed by a comprehensive bibliography Mid-Century Britain Elain Harwood,2021-10-14 Leading expert and passionate advocate of modern British architecture Elain Harwood gives the best overview of British architecture from 1938 to 1963 mid century buildings Growing in popularity and with an increasing understanding of their importance as a background to our lives the buildings range from the Royal Festival Hall Newcastle City Hall and to Deal Pier and Douglas ferry terminal from prefabs and ice cream parlours to Coventry Cathedral and the Golden Lane Estate The author writes in non technical layman s language about the design architecture and also the influence of these buildings on the lives of our towns and cities The author has arranged the huge variety of buildings into Houses and Flats Churches and Public Buildings Offices Shops Showrooms and Cafes Hotels and Public Houses Cinemas Theatres and Concert Halls Industrial Buildings and Transport There is an insightful introduction that places these buildings in the context of 20th century architecture generally and globally All fantastically photographed to make this a must have for anyone interested in our built heritage Postwar Britain architects often saw architecture as a powerful means to improve the quality of our lives after the shadow of war This is the fascinating story of what they built to meet that challenge Cover illustration by Paul Catherall Modern Architecture in England, Holland, and France, 1934 Anson Bailey Cutts,1934
