Wiesner-Hanks, Mathew Kuefler, 2024-04-30 Volume IV examines the intersections of modernity and human sexuality through the forces ideas and events that have shaped the modern world Through eighteen chapters this volume examines connections between sexuality and the defining forces of modern global history including capitalism colonialism migration consumerism and war sexuality in modern literature and print media sexuality in dictatorships and democracies and cultural changes such as sex education and the sexual revolution The volume ends with discussions of the difficult issues we in the modern world continue to face such as restrictions on reproductive rights sex tourism STDs and AIDS sex trafficking domestic violence and illiberal attacks on sexuality The Promise and Perils of Transnationalization Benjamin Stachursky, 2013 To date most constructivist international relations studies have characterized the influence of transnationalism on domestic forms of activism as uniformly positive In particular transnational interactions are viewed as positive factors for the development and daily impact of gender activism Benjamin Stachursky's book questions the unvarying positive view of transnationalism on domestic forms of activism arguing for a more nuanced analysis that permits an understanding of the enabling and restricting effects of transnationalism Stachursky also challenges the dominant view of civil society as normatively homogenous by illustrating the complex relationships and conflicts that exist between NGOs and other civil society representatives He grounds his theoretical arguments with a comparative case study on women's rights activism in Egypt and Iran which uses semi structured interviews with women's rights activists in the two countries and analysis of documentation by local political and societal actors Looking at the period from the mid 1980s up to present developments such as the Arab Spring Stachursky analyzes the emergence and development of NGO activism in Egypt and Iran the social political and legal context of NGO activism and key domestic debates on the impact and legitimacy of the actors operating in women's rights activism By closely examining the ambivalent relationship between transnationalism and human rights organizations Stachursky proves that transnationalization has both enabling and constraining effects on the domestic legitimacy of women's rights activists and on their ability to create meaningful social and political change
