Amazonian Geographies Jacqueline Vadjunec,Marianne Schmink,2014-07-16

Amazonia exists in our imagination as well as on the ground It is a mysterious and powerful construct in our psyches yet shares multiple trans national borders and diverse ecological and cultural landscapes It is often presented as a seemingly homogeneous place a lush tropical jungle teeming with exotic wildlife and plant diversity as well as the various indigenous populations that inhabit the region Yet since Conquest Amazonia has been linked to the global market and after a long and varied history of colonization and development projects Amazonia is peopled by many distinct cultural groups who remain largely invisible to the outside world despite their increasing integration into global markets and global politics Millions of rubber tappers neo native groups peasants river dwellers and urban residents continue to shape and re shape the cultural landscape as they adapt their livelihood practices and political strategies in response to changing markets and shifting linkages with political and economic actors at local regional national and international levels This book explores the diversity of changing identities and cultural landscapes emerging in different corners of this rapidly changing region This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Cultural Geography

City Life from Jakarta to Dakar AbdouMalik Simone,2010-01-27 City Life from Jakarta to Dakar focuses on the politics incumbent to this process an anticipatory politics that encompasses a wide range of practices calculations and economies As such the book is not a collection of case studies on a specific theme not a review of developmental problems nor does it marshal the focal cities as evidence of particular urban trends Rather it examines how possibilities perhaps inherent in these cities all along are materialized through the everyday projects of residents situated in the city and the larger world in very different ways

Towns, Ecology, and the Land Richard T. T. Forman,2019-02-07 Towns and villages are sometimes viewed as minor even quaint spots whereas this book boldly reconceptualizes these places as important dynamic environmental hotspots Multitudes of towns and villages with nearly half the world s population characterize perhaps half the global land surface The book s pages feature ecological patterns processes and change as well as human dimensions both within towns and in strong connections and effects on surrounding agricultural land forest land and arid land Towns small to large and villages are examined with spatial and cultural lenses Ecological dimensions water soil and air systems together with habitats plants wildlife and biodiversity are highlighted A concluding section presents concepts for making better towns and better land From a pioneer in both landscape ecology and urban ecology this highly international town ecology book opens an important frontier for researchers students professors and professionals including environmental town and conservation planners

Forest Lost Maron E. Greenleaf,2024-10-07 Forest Lost is an ethnography of forest carbon offsets and the wider effort to make the living rainforest valuable in the Brazilian Amazon

Beyond the Megacity Nadine Reis,Michael Lukas,2022-03-01 Beyond the Megacity connects and reconnects the global debate on the contemporary urban condition to the Latin American tradition of seeing considering and theorizing urbanization from the margins It develops the approach of peripheral urbanization as a way to integrate the theoretical agendas belonging to global suburbanisms neo Marxist accounts of planetary urbanization and postcolonial urban studies and to move urban theory closer to the complexity and diversity of urbanization in the Global South From an interdisciplinary perspective Beyond the Megacity investigates the natures causes implications and politics of current urbanization processes in Latin America The book draws on case studies from various countries across the region

covering theoretical and disciplinary approaches from the fields of geography anthropology sociology urban studies agrarian studies and urban and regional planning and is written by academics journalists practitioners and scholar activists Beyond the Megacity unites these unique perspectives by shifting attention to the places processes practices and bodies of knowledge that have often been neglected in the past

Another Boom for Amazonia? Jr. Penn, 2010-05 This study examines the socioeconomic and environmental implications of the new camu camu industry in Peru Camu camu Myrciaria dubia is a small tree native to wetlands of the Amazon basin It is especially abundant in Peruvian Amazonia The high vitamin C content of the fruit has generated interest in exporting camu camu products from Amazonia to more developed countries The government of Peru has been actively promoting this new extractive industry as well as the planting of camu camu in rural areas Non governmental development organizations and private industry are now actively involved with camu camu projects and enterprises In Peru enthusiasm for this native species is high because camu camu is expected to provide a much needed and sustainable economic boost for the region However many questions about the environmental implications and socioeconomic impacts of the camu camu export industry need to be answered in order to understand its ecological and economic viability and its effects on business and in rural communities Winner of 2010 Dissertation Excellence Award Findings indicate that camu camu has provided significantly more income to rural residents than is provided by the traditional boom and bust economies of Amazonia Households who adopted camu camu as a new crop in their floodplain agroforestry systems farmed significantly more floodplain land than non adopters and were especially adept at experimenting with new innovations Lack of agricultural credit is a major constraint to adopting camu camu as a new crop in Peru Geographic isolation and the location of processing facilities in relation to fruit harvests present major obstacles to the economic viability of the new industry Camu camu was found to be cultivated with a higher diversity of annual crops than is typical in floodplain fields of the region Extraction of camu camu fruits from the wild does not appear to have a negative environmental impact at least in the initial years of the industry This non timber forest product in the process of domestication can support a viable industry in the Peruvian Amazon if agricultural extension methods and marketing channels are improved

Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation Karl S. Zimmerer, 2006-09-15 Examining the geographical dimensions of environmental management and conservation activities implemented on landscapes worldwide Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation creates a new framework and collects original case studies to explore recent developments in the interaction of humans and their environment Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation makes four important arguments about the recent coupling of conservation and globalization that is reshaping the place of nature in human environmental change First it has led to an unprecedented number of spatial arrangements whose environmental management goals and prescribed activities vary along a spectrum from strict biodiversity protection to sustainable utilization involving agriculture food production and extractive activities Conservation and globalization are also leading by necessity to new scales of management in these activities that rely on environmental science thus shifting the spatial patterning of humans and the environment This interaction results as well in the unprecedented importance of boundaries and borders transnational border issues pose both opportunities and threats to global conservation proposed by organizations and institutions that are themselves international Lastly

Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation argues that the local level has been integral to globalization while the regional level is often eclipsed at the peril of the successful implementation of conservation and management programs Bridging the gap between geography and life science Globalization and New Geographies of Conservation will appeal to a broad range of students of the environment conservation planning biodiversity management and development and globalization studies Environmental Justice and Sustainable Development Götz Ferdinand Kaufmann,2012

Radical Territories in the Brazilian Amazon Laura Zanotti,2016-11-15 Radical Territories in the Brazilian Amazon sheds light on the creative and groundbreaking efforts Kayap peoples deploy to protect their lands and livelihoods in Brazil Laura Zanotti shows how Kayap communities are using diverse pathways to make a sustainable future for their peoples and lands The author advances anthropological approaches to understanding how indigenous groups cultivate self determination strategies in conflict ridden landscapes Agouti on the wedding menu: Bushmeat harvest, consumption and trade in a post-frontier region of the Ecuadorian Amazon Ian Cummins,Miguel Pinedo-Vasquez,Alexander Barnard,Robert Nasi,2015-10-06 The availability consumption and trade of bushmeat is highly variable across time and space This paper examines how the bushmeat market in Napo Ecuador has evolved alongside a variety of interconnected factors including local game scarcity increased law enforcement infrastructure development and increasing urbanization Much of the human occupied landscape has already undergone extinction filters with only the most hunting resistant species still present However Napo maintains significant areas of largely intact forest which are not hunted due distance from roads and rough topography which may serve as source habitat in the future Two modes of hunting are identified both of which have very different implications for conservationists and for rural livelihoods Supplemental or sustenance hunting generally focuses on more abundant species and thus occurs primarily within local agroforestry systems or nearby patches of forests Commercial hunting meanwhile takes place within larger catchments and is focused on large bodied species which are especially susceptible to hunting pressure Efforts by the Ecuadorian government to interdict bushmeat have largely driven the trade underground making it difficult to estimate current consumption rates Demand generated by traditional Kichwa wedding parties remain a significant driver of commercial hunting Policy recommendations include a greater focus on species level game management greater education about endangered species and more emphasis on using conservation programs to create corridors between protected areas Due to the relatively small size of most communal forest areas wildlife management is especially difficult for wide ranging species and conservation efforts should focus on common pool resource management
