The Inner Lives of Ancient Houses J. A. Baird, 2014-08-28 Dura Europos on the Syrian Euphrates is one of the best preserved and most extensively excavated sites of the Roman world A Hellenistic foundation later held by the Parthians and then the Romans Dura had a Roman military garrison installed within its city walls before it was taken by the Sasanians in the mid third century The Inner Lives of Ancient Houses is the first study to consider the houses of the site as a whole The houses were excavated by a team from Yale and the French Academy of Inscriptions and Letters in the 1920s and 30s and though a wealth of archaeological and textual material was recovered most of that relating to housing was never published Through a combination of archival information held at the Yale University Art Gallery and new fieldwork with the Mission Franco Syrienne d'Europos Doura this study re-evaluates the houses of the site integrating architecture artefacts and textual evidence and examining ancient daily life and cultural interaction as well as considering houses which were modified for use by the Roman military

Athens, Etruria, and the Many Lives of Greek Figured Pottery Sheramy D. Bundrick, 2019-02-26 A lucrative trade in Athenian pottery flourished from the early sixth until the late fifth century B C E finding an eager market in Etruria Most studies of these painted vases focus on the artistry and worldview of the Greeks who made them but Sheramy D Bundrick shifts attention to their Etruscan customers ancient trade networks and archaeological contexts Thousands of Greek painted vases have emerged from excavations of tombs sanctuaries and settlements throughout Etruria from southern coastal centers to northern communities in the Po Valley Using documented archaeological assemblages especially from tombs in southern Etruria Bundrick challenges the widely held assumption that Etruscans were hellenized through Greek imports She marshals evidence to show that Etruscan consumers purposefully selected figured pottery that harmonized with their own local needs and customs so much so that the vases are better described as etruscanized Athenian ceramic workers she contends learned from traders which shapes and imagery sold best to the Etruscans and employed a variety of strategies to maximize artistry output and profit

Chalkis Aitolias II Sanne Houby-Nielsen, 2020-07-24 Homeric Chalkis is situated on the coast of Aetolia at the very gateway of the Gulf of Patras The foundation occurred during an important period in early Greek history when trade and movement of peoples along the Gulf intensified with a resulting strong pull to the coast Well preserved stratigraphies date the foundation to the early seventh century BC and testify to a flourishing settlement in the sixth century lasting till the early fifth century BC when the site was temporarily given up Walls and roads follow a rectilinear layout A broad spectre of pottery shapes and wares attest to innovative local and regional workshops already from the onset of the settlement Alongside the pottery tools for complex textile manufacture were found in all houses among which were many small pyramidal loom weights and spools These findings indicated a high degree of experimental weaving techniques and demonstrated how the courtyard house as a new house model was particularly well suited to accommodate this manufacture probably mantels The results therefore offer important new evidence on relations between gender behaviour and Greek houses The catalogue is richly illustrated with profile drawings plans black and white and colour photos and accompanied by discussions of the material
