The History of the County Palatine and Duchy of Lancaster Edward Baines,1868 Black 1919 Jacqueline Jenkinson,2009-05-01

The riots that broke out in various British port cities in 1919 were a dramatic manifestation of a wave of global unrest that affected Britain parts of its empire continental Europe and North America during and in the wake of the First World War During the riots crowds of white working class people targeted black workers their families and black owned businesses and property One of the chief sources of violent confrontation in the run down port areas was the colour bar implemented by the sailors trades unions campaigning to keep black Arab and Asian sailors off British ships in a time of increasing job competition Black 1919 sets out the economic and social causes of the riots and their impact on Britain s relationship with its empire and its colonial subjects The riots are also considered within the wider context of rioting elsewhere on the fringes of the Atlantic world as black people came in increased numbers into urban and metropolitan settings where they competed with working class white people for jobs and housing during and after the First World War The book details the events of the port riots in Britain with chapters devoted to assessing the motivations and make up of the rioting crowds examining police procedures during the riots considering the court cases that followed and looking at the longer term consequences for the black British workers and their families Black 1919 is a stark and timely reminder of the violent racist conflict that emerged after the First World War and the shockwaves that reverberated around the Empire City Status in the British Isles, 1830-2002 John Beckett,2017-07-05 Based on a wide variety of government and civic records this book traces the evolution of the changing nature of city status particularly through the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Beginning with an explanation of how city status first became connected to cathedrals in the medieval period the book explores how during the nineteenth century links evolved between Anglican diocesan sub divisions and city creation It then shows how in a few years between 1888 and 1907 the traditional interpretation of a city was overturned as the most major British industrial and commercial towns received city status and lord mayoralties The second half of the book concentrates on city status during the twentieth century and particularly the politicisation of the process and the linking of grants to royal occasions The study concludes by looking at the city status competitions of 2000 and 2002 in relation to the previous two hundred years of city history Building on the past Malpass, Peter,Cairncross, Liz,2006-03-29 Despite the improved supply and quality of housing in the UK and Europe over the last 60 years the future of housing remains uncertain Will the supply of new housing meet demand Is decent affordable housing an achievable goal How far will governments seek to shape the market How will they respond to demographic pressures in different parts of the country Will housing wealth become a central issue in wider debates about the future of public services This book looks at the big questions affecting the future of housing as a key indicator of social and economic well being in the 21st century It brings together specially commissioned contributions by leading housing experts who explore a wide range of themes and issues affecting the prospects for the coming 20 years or more Drawing on the evidence of the past and present they analyse the implications of current trends to consider how markets and governments might respond to the challenges ahead The book is not a work of prophecy or a manifesto for action It is designed to stimulate and contribute to informed debate about possible futures and what can be done to influence what happens Building on the past will be of interest to all those concerned about the future of housing neighbourhoods and communities over the next 20 years Building on the Past Peter Malpass,Liz Cairncross,2006-03-29 Despite the improved supply and quality of housing in the UK and Europe the future of housing remains uncertain Is decent affordable housing an achievable goal How far will governments seek to shape the market and respond to demographic pressures This book looks at the big questions housing as a key indicator of social and economic well being The Municipal Journal and Public Works Engineer ,1925 The Solicitors' Journal & Reporter ,1866 The Enterprising City Centre Gwyndaf Williams,2003-11-06 The Enterprising City Centre reveals exemplars of local partnership working the development and delivery of realistic implementation plans and the range of instruments available to create both an improved quality to the urban environment and enhanced commercial and cultural competitiveness of our major city centres That this was largely delivered in Manchester within a five year period of intensive development and renewal activity amply demonstrates the value of such experience for wider dissemination Feeding the Victorian City Roger Scola,1992 The Electrical Review ,1911 Lancastrians Paul Salveson,2023 In the early morning the mill girls clumping down the cobbled street all in clogs making a curiously formidable sound like an army hurrying into battle I suppose this is the typical sound of Lancashire George Orwell The Road to Wigan Pier This popular history explores the cultural heritage and identity of Lancashire stretching from the Mersey to the Lake District Paul Salveson charts the county s transformation from a largely agricultural region noted for its religious learning into the Industrial Revolution s powerhouse as an emerging self confident bourgeoisie drove economic growth This capital boom came with a cultural blossoming creating today s Lancashire Industrialists strongly committed to the arts endowed galleries and museums producing a diverse world of science technology music and literature Lancashire developed a distinct business culture but this was also the birthplace of the world co operative movement and the heart of democracy campaigns including Chartism and women s suffrage Lancashire has generally welcomed incomers who have long helped to inform its distinctive identity fourteenth century Flemish weavers nineteenth century Irish immigrants and Jewish refugees and more recently New Lancastrians from Asia Africa and Eastern Europe This long overdue book explores contemporary Lancastrian culture following modern upheavals and Lancashire s fragmentation compared with its old rival Yorkshire What future awaits the 6 million people of this rich historic region
