POWs the home front medical nursing efforts as well as coverage of conscientious objectors Sport, War and Society in Australia and New Zealand Martin Crotty, Robert Hess, 2018-02-02 Sport and war have been closely linked in Australian and New Zealand society since the nineteenth century Sport has variously been advocated as appropriate training for war lambasted as a distraction from the war effort and resorted to as an escape from wartime trials and tribulations War has limited the fortunes of some sporting codes and some individuals while others have blossomed in the changed circumstances The chapters in this book range widely over the broad subject of Australian and New Zealand sport and their relation to the cataclysmic world wars of the first half of the twentieth century They examine the mythology of the links between sport and war sporting codes groups of sporting individuals and individual sportspeople Revealing complex and often unpredictable effects of total wars upon individuals and social groups which as always created chaos and the sporting field offered no exception This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport The New Zealand War. The Second Year of One of England's Little Wars Octavius HADFIELD (Bishop of Wellington, N.Z.), 1861

New Zealand's France Alistair Watts, 2021-04-19 In New Zealand's France Dr Alistair Watts investigates the origins of the New Zealand nation state from a fresh perspective one that moves beyond the traditional bicultural view prevalent in the current New Zealand historiography That New Zealand became British in the 1840s owes much Dr Watts contends to that other great colonial power of the time France The rich history of British antagonism towards the French was transported to New Zealand in the 1830s and 1840s as part of the British colonists cultural baggage to be used in creating an old identity in a new land Even as the British colonists sought a new beginning this defining anti French characteristic caused them to override the existing M ori culture with their own constructs of time and place Leaving their signature names in the cities of Wellington and Nelson and naming their streets after Waterloo and Collingwood the British colonisers attempted to establish a local antithesis of France through a bucolic Little Britain in the South Pacific It was this legacy as much as the assumed bicultural origins of modern New Zealand that produced a Pacific country that still relies on the symbolism of the Union Jack embedded in the national flag and the totemic constitutional presence of the British Crown to maintain its national identity This is the story of how this came about
