Reconstructing the Household Peter W. Bardaglio, 2000-11-09 In Reconstructing the Household Peter Bardaglio examines the connections between race gender sexuality and the law in the nineteenth century South He focuses on miscegenation rape incest child custody and adoption laws to show how southerners struggled with the conflicts and stresses that surfaced within their own households and in the larger society during the Civil War era Based on literary as well as legal sources Bardaglio s analysis reveals how legal contests involving African Americans women children and the poor led to a rethinking of families sexuality and the social order Before the Civil War a distinctive variation of republicanism based primarily on hierarchy and dependence characterized southern domestic relations This organic ideal of the household and its power structure differed significantly from domestic law in the North which tended to emphasize individual rights and contractual obligations The defeat of the Confederacy emancipation and economic change transformed family law and the governance of sexuality in the South and allowed an unprecedented intrusion of the state into private life But Bardaglio argues that despite these profound social changes a preoccupation with traditional notions of gender and race continued to shape southern legal attitudes marriage equality domestic violence and gender parity are shown from historical and contemporary angles as this collection of primary sources allows readers and students to easily trace how women's lives and histories have and continue to intersect. With a historical context for each selection the book also features structured activities to help teachers with class discussion and exams including suggestions for further reading document analysis essay questions and manageable research assignments.

Family Constellations in Contemporary Ibero-American and Slavic Literatures Anna Artwińska,Ángela Calderón,Jobst Welge,2024-10-07 This volume examines Ibero American as well as Slavic literatures of the 21st century and studies how historical imaginaries in family narratives are functionalized for both individual and collective and post national identities. The analysis proceeds along three conceptual axes. What these narratives have in common is that they construct specific constellations of the historical imagination and of family whereby family is here conceived not so much as an organic micro unity but rather as changing multiple relations between individual members godparents first and second degree relatives non blood related family members present and absent members adopted children etc. Furthermore these novels are often grounded in trans generational memories. They are written by members of a generation that as a rule did not directly experience these historical events. It is also significant that these narratives are no longer conceived as representing national identities but paradigmatically speak for a collective that defines itself in regional ethnic religious or ideological terms. It seems therefore that these narratives of family constellations are in need of more flexible typological rubrics and interpretive frameworks. Intended as a sustained comparative study of these family narratives this volume is a contribution in understanding how historical caesura experiences and their literary representation work on the self understanding of the present.

Rebuilding Family Relations for Children and Youth Separated from Family Sarah Hean, Vanessa Heaslip, Jonathan Parker, Pravin Tembjerg, 2024-10-16 This edited volume explores a range of causes for separation of children and young people from family the impact of these causes and methods that both professionals and families may employ to build or rebuild these relations. In particular contributions focus on six high priority crises through which children and young people become either permanently or temporarily separated from their families removal by child welfare services migration family breakdown placement into institutional care incarceration and or the death of a parent. Authors emphasize the feelings of grief and loss experienced both by the child and their family whatever the separation context and the eventual impact on the young person's mental health. They conclude that reunification with the family is not always possible or desirable and permanent alternative sources of care and or attachment may be required. But if reunification is possible it is a complex and a multidimensional pathway as children move from one care context to the next. Innovation coproduction with the birth family and tackling stigma and discrimination associated with family separations is a high priority.

Reconstructing Practical Theology John Reader, 2017-03-02 This book argues that the discipline of practical theology needs to be re shaped in the light of the impact of various influences created through the encounter with globalization.

Essential to this is an engagement with the insights of other disciplines e g sociology politics economics and philosophy The content and authority of the Christian tradition is being challenged by the blurred encounters with more fluid lifestyles alternative spiritualities and indeed other faiths as mediated through information technology and the breakdown of attachments to all forms of institutional life Traditional ways of belonging and relating to places and structures are being eroded leaving the established patterns of ministry worship church organisation the province of an ageing population while those who are now more inclined to search for communities of interest avoid being drawn into the practices and structures of formal religion What is the future for practical theology in this rapidly changing context By examining the familiar concerns of the subject John Reader shows how it is in danger of operating with zombie categories still alive but only just and presents the possibilities for a reflexive spirituality grounded in the Christian tradition as a way into the future
