Reconstructing Illness Studies In Pathography:

Reconstructing Illness Anne Hunsaker Hawkins, 1999 Serious illness and mortality those most universal unavoidable and frightening of human experiences are the focus of this pioneering study which has been hailed as a telling and provocative commentary on our times As modern medicine has become more scientific and dispassionate a new literary genre has emerged pathography the personal narrative concerning illness treatment and sometimes death Hawkins's sensitive reading of numerous pathographies highlights the assumptions attitudes and myths that people bring to the medical encounter One factor emerges again and again in these case studies the tendency in contemporary medical practice to focus primarily not on the needs of the individual who is sick but on the condition that we call disease Pathography allows the individual person a voice one that asserts the importance of the experiential side of illness and thus restores the feeling thinking experiencing human being to the center of the medical enterprise Recommended for medical practitioners the clergy caregivers students of popular culture and the general reader Reconstructing Illness demonstrates that only when we hear both the doctor's and the patient's voice will we have a medicine that is truly human Reconstructing Illness Anne Hunsaker Hawkins, 1999

Hyperandrogenism and the Marginalization of Pathologized Bodies Megan Perram, 2025-09-30 In the current sociopolitical landscape hyperandrogenism has become a lightning rod for collective anxieties about transgender identities and preserving women's sports as well as misunderstandings about the inherent fairness of sport and the biological mechanisms that quantify athletic advantage Perched behind this discourse people living with hyperandrogenism face ongoing destabilization of healthcare access and find their experiences are often silenced and marginalized This book offers a novel therapeutic method for individuals with hyperandrogenism to share their experiences using literary hypertext a form of digital storytelling that invites readers to participate by selecting hyperlinks Focusing on a case study of women and nonbinary individuals with hyperandrogenism ten hypertext authors' narratives are explored Their experiences highlight the therapeutic value of writing a hypertext illness narrative by mapping reflective experiences through hyperlinks and sharing their narrative with the broader community Providing interdisciplinary insights into the lived experience of hyperandrogenism as well as practical guidance on the clinical use of literary text this book will appeal to researchers and clinicians interested in hyperandrogenism gender studies health humanities narrative therapy electronic media game design and feminist media studies

The Autobiography Effect Dennis Schep, 2019-07-24 Since the advent of post structuralism various authors have problematized the modern conception of autobiography by questioning the status of authorship and interrogating the relation between language and reality Yet even after making autobiography into a theoretical problem many of these authors ended up writing about themselves This paradox stands at the center of this wide ranging study of the form and function of autobiography in the work of authors who have distanced themselves from its modern instantiation Discussing Roland Barthes Jacques Derrida Hélène Cixous and others this book grapples with the question of what it means to write the self when the self is understood as an effect of writing Combining close reading intellectual history and literary theory The Autobiography Effect traces how precisely its theoretically problematic nature made autobiography into a central scene for the negotiation of philosophical positions and anxieties after structuralism

The Portrait of an Artist as a Pathographer: On Writing Illnesses and Illnesses in Writing Jayjit Sarkar, Jagannath Basu, 2021-05-09 Focusing on the various intersections between illness and literature across time and space The Portrait of an Artist as a Pathographer seeks to understand how ontological phenomenological and epistemological experiences of illness have been dealt with and represented in literary writings and literary studies In this volume scholars from across the world have come together to understand how the pathological condition of being ill the sufferers as well as the pathologists dealing with the ill the healers and caregivers have shaped literary works The language of medical science with its jargon and the language of the every day with its emphasis on utility prove equally insufficient and futile in capturing the pain and suffering of illness It is this insufficiency and futility that makes us turn towards the canonical works of Joseph Conrad Samuel Beckett William Carlos Williams Virginia Woolf Kazuo Ishiguro Miroslav Holub as well as the non canonical António Lobo Antunes Yumemakura Baku Wopko Jensma and Vaslav Nijinsky This volume helps in understanding and capturing the metalanguage of illness while presenting us with the tradition of writing pain In an effort to expand the definition of pathography to include those who are on the other side of pain the essays in this collection aim to portray the above mentioned pathographers as artists turning the anxiety and suffering of illness into an art form Looking deeply into such creative aspects of illness this book also seeks to evoke the possibility of pathography as world literature This book will be of particular interest to undergraduate postgraduate and research students as well as scholars of literature and medical humanities who are interested in the intersections between literary studies and medical science Creative Arts in Humane Medicine Cheryl L.

McLean, 2014-01-24 Creative Arts in Humane Medicine is a book for medical educators practitioners students and those in the allied health professions who wish to learn how the arts can contribute toward a more caring and empathic approach to medicine Topical research and inspiring real life accounts from international innovators in the field of humanistic medicine show how the creative arts in varied forms can contribute toward greater learning and understanding in medicine as well as improved health and quality of life for patients and practitioners Chinese Stories of Drug Addiction Guy

Ramsay, 2015-12-22 Addiction to illicit drugs is a pressing social concern across greater China where there are likely several million drug addicts at present This research breaks new ground by examining Chinese people s stories of drug addiction Chinese Stories of Drug Addiction systematically evaluates how drug addiction is represented and constructed in a series of contemporary life stories and filmic stories from mainland China Taiwan and Hong Kong These stories recount experiences leading up to and during drug addiction as well as experiences during drug rehabilitation and recovery Through analysis of these contemporary life stories and filmic stories the book presents a comprehensive picture of how Chinese people from both inside the experience of drug addiction and outside of it make sense of a social practice that is deemed to be highly transgressive in Chinese culture It employs a blended discourse analytic and narrative analytic approach to show how salient cultural political and institutional discourses shape these Chinese stories and experiences Complementing existing humanities research which documents the historical narrative of drug addiction in China at the expense of the contemporary narrative the book also provides health and allied professionals with a rich insight into how Chinese people from different geographical locations and walks of life make sense of the experience of drug addiction Moving beyond historical narrative to examine contemporary stories Chinese Stories of Drug Addiction offers a valuable contribution to the fields of Chinese studies and personal health and wellbeing as well as being of practical use to health professionals
