

Operating Department Recovery Room Practice

Level 7 Qualification

Key principles of national guidelines are presented within a variety of teaching and learning strategies including lectures, guided independent study and practical hands-on experience to enhance critical thinking skills and gain the clinical competencies required for the role of a recovery practitioner. Self-directed learning and work-based learning are key features of the module. The work-based competency portfolio is provided to support professional knowledge and skills transfer to the workplace enabling the practitioner to apply theory to practice enhancing the quality of patient care provided within the recovery room and to act in the role of the patients advocate during their stay within the recovery room.
