My Favorite Color is Red Derek Fenner, 2006 Poetry Art If Derek Fenner were a machine I d call him the Peculiar Anomalous Singular Main Frame that factors sequences of instructions from every corner of American Avant Culture But Derek Fenner is not a machine he is a compassionate human whose work whose works as a publisher artist teacher and poet dive into the crossroad of that which is absurd about America and that which makes it beautiful its car rust and small town newspapers and street life and television screen faces and generations of stealthy cults of bookish Blakean Warholian basement dwellers He drives his work with the fuel of Wallace Berman s precept art is love is god what more can a reader ask for Lisa Jarnot

Mollie Is Three Vivian Gussin Paley, 2010-07-19 A classic work by an educator the New York Times said should be required reading wherever children are growing Mollie Is Three describes a year in the life of a little girl and her preschool classmates in a nursery school classroom run by Vivian Gussin Paley whose groundbreaking ideas about the best way to teach young children continue to be influential today We first encounter Mollie on the first day of school just before her third birthday and we follow her and her classmates for the next year Alongside her we go from confusion and uncertainty in new surroundings to growing understanding and confidence as patterns emerge and Mollie begins to grasp their significance and her teacher begins to understand how to track her growth and development Rather than offer an account of an idealized all but imaginary child Paley presents us with one actual kid in all their complexity and confusion The result is a landmark contribution to our understanding of child development and the role early education can play in fostering it

The Quality of Thought David Pitt, 2024 The Quality of Thought develops and defends the thesis that thinking is a kind of experience characterized by a sui generis phenomenology and draws out the implications of this thesis for dominant views in philosophy of mind philosophy of language and metaphysics The view defended is radically internalist and intensionalist and goes against received doctrines in philosophy of mind externalism and language extensionalism The book offers arguments for the thesis refutations of classic externalism Putnam and Burge arguments that standard motivations for direct reference theories of names indexicals and demonstratives are not inevitable and alternative accounts of their and their conceptual equivalents semantics It also addresses outstanding challenges to the phenomenal intentionalist view of thought content including the existence of unconscious thought the elusiveness of conceptual phenomenology the matching content problem phenomenal compositionality and the determination of conceptual reference Four Corners Level 1 Teacher's Edition with Assessment Audio CD/CD-ROM Jack C.
