Johnson,2019-08-05 Drawing on almost fifty years of research and first hand experience Elizabeth Lominska Johnson and Graham E Johnson have produced a masterpiece of ethnography a fine grained study of the transformation of a rural district into a chaotic industrial and now post industrial city Their work has implications far beyond its specific location scholars of history anthropology and sociology urban planning ethnomusicology women s studies political science ethnic relations and China studies in general will all find it meaningful Tsuen Wan was incorporated into colonial Hong Kong in 1898 The original inhabitants were Hakka who were guaranteed land rights which were central to later developments After the Japanese war the town was overwhelmed by vast numbers of immigrants fleeing civil war and revolution seeking employment in rapidly developing industries The newcomers were welcomed as tenants but in the absence of firm planning guidelines their number far exceeded the town s capacity to house and accommodate them The original inhabitants were firmly rooted in villages and elaborate kinship organizations the immigrants similarly relied on voluntary associations to help them face the many challenges that change brought into their lives Over time the government became more interventionist and developed Tsuen Wan as the first planned new town in Hong Kong s New Territories In recent years the culture of the original inhabitants has been diluted and differences among immigrants have diminished as all have assumed a general Hong Kong identity I have no doubt that this is an important book It covers a large number of topics that will intrigue sociologists anthropologists political scientists and historians who work on developing societies The book can be easily mined for data and comparative ethnography on a wide range of subjects from family organization to styles of leadership For scholars focusing on Chinese society this is a must read James Watson Harvard University The authors show us the dynamic interactions between tradition and modernity in Tsuen Wan s everyday life during the time when the New Town was undergoing rapid industrialization They give us a comprehensive account of the social development of the villages in the area taking us on a historical tour filled with surprises and excitement Sidney Cheung The Chinese University of Hong Kong Dramas and Works Prepared for Oral Delivery Library of Congress.
