Changing Security Agendas and the Third World Lloyd Pettiford, Melissa Curley, 1999-08-27 Security has long been a central organizing concept of International Relations Until the 1980s students of the discipline understood its simple essence in terms of the arms race and balances of power Then reflecting changes encouraged by both the inter paradigm debate and the so called third debate security underwent radical reconsideration The many attempts to redefine the concept led to a proliferation of terms such as true security global security common security and environmental security However these terms have often been used in confusing and contradictory ways In attempting to help students deal with this confusion this book outlines the theoretical tools at the disposal of students for their own rethinking of the concept of security The book will help students wishing to seriously engage with IR s security debate at whatever level and draws its own conclusions as part of this debate

Redefining security in the Middle East Tami Jacoby, Brent Sasley, 2018-07-30 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license For over five decades the Cold War security agenda was distinguished by the principal strategic balance that of a structure of bipolarity between the United States US and the Soviet Union USSR This book seeks to draw from current developments in critical security studies in order to establish a new framework of inquiry for security in the Middle East It addresses the need to redefine security in the Middle East The focus is squarely on the Arab Israeli context in general and the Palestinian Israeli context in particular The character of Arab Israeli relations are measured by the Israeli foreign policy debate from the 1950s to the 1990s A dialogue between Islam and Islamism as a means to broaden the terrain on which conflict resolution and post bipolar security in the Middle East is to be understood is presented The Middle East peace process MEPP was an additional factor in problematizing the military strategic concept of security in the Middle East The shift in analysis from national security to human security reflects the transformations of the post Cold War era by combining military with non military concerns such as environmental damage social unrest economic mismanagement cultural conflict gender inequity and radical fundamentalism By way of contrast to realist international relations IR theory developing world theorists have proposed a different set of variables to explain the unique challenges facing developing states Finally the book examines the significance of ecopolitics in security agendas in the Middle East

Africa at the Millennium NA NA,2016-04-30 This book is aimed at providing a framework for African issues in the 21st century Apart from its African centered approach it argues that previously marginalized areas of research require in depth study It also introduces new areas of interest absent in existing works The book pays particular attention to the relative success of African countries and regions in their attempt to find solutions to Africa s problems and the changing role in African states in international relations

Redefining Human Rights in the Struggle for Peace and Development Terrence E. Paupp,2014-01-20 Examines the history of the struggle to advance human rights and provides a global framework of constitutional protections to implement these rights

Redefining Politics Adrian Leftwich,2013-04-15 This book challenges conventional conceptions of politics which focus largely on the institutions of government and the associated struggles for power around them It argues that politics is involved in all the activities of cooperation and conflict whereby people organize the use production and distribution of human natural and material resources Found in all human groups institutions and societies politics everywhere influences and reflects the structures of power social organization culture and ideology These central themes are illustrated by drawing on a wide range of societies including the Kung hunter gatherers the pre Columbian Aztecs and the Pastoral Maasai as well as modern Britain and Third World societies from Chile to China Other examples of village communities a typical university department and the World Bank show how institutions may also be analyzed in terms of the definition of politics used here It is equally central to the argument that many of the most critical problems occurring in societies can be attributed to their politics and this theme is explored looking at such problems as poverty famines epidemics violence and unemployment in Britain and throughout the world

Redefining Politics
Routledge Library Editions: Political Science Volume 45 Adrian Leftwich,2013-04-15 This book challenges conventional conceptions of politics which focus largely on the institutions of government and the associated struggles for power around them It argues that politics is involved in all the activities of cooperation and conflict whereby people organize the use production and distribution of human natural and material resources Found in all human groups institutions and societies politics everywhere influences and reflects the structures of power social organization culture and ideology These central themes are illustrated by drawing on a wide range of societies including the Kung hunter gatherers the pre Columbian Aztecs and the Pastoral Maasai as well as modern Britain and Third World societies from Chile to China Other examples of village communities a typical university department and the World Bank show how institutions may also be analyzed in terms of the definition of politics used here It is equally central to the argument that many of the most critical problems occurring in societies can be attributed to their politics and this theme is explored looking at such problems as poverty famines epidemics violence and unemployment in Britain and throughout the world Redefining Security David T. Graham, Nana

Poku, 1998-10-30 International migration has become a major domestic political issue in many countries and a major topic of international debate Thus far most of the attention has centered on the plight of refugees or on ways to curb the flow of illegal immigrants As more and more migrants cross interstate boundaries however governments are realizing that immigration and asylum problems cannot be separated from broader socio economic and political issues nor can they be resolved by countries acting unilaterally Even with this understanding attempts to develop multilateral strategies to ease international tensions arising from uncontrolled migration will be complicated by economic disparities regional political tensions and mounting population and ecological pressures Internal migration particularly in terms of forced resettlement and urbanization also gives rise to a myriad of problems relating to aspects of security The increase in other major population movements such as tourism and business travel also has implications for security Until recently the question what is security was rarely asked in the context of these developments This was because there was a perceived consensus on what the nature of security was The nature of security was held to mean national political and military security Thus security was virtually synonymous with defense The theoretical claim of this volume is that these developments are necessitating a redefinition of security This volume provides major theoretical analyses of these trends as well as in depth case studies that explore specific developments of major concern to scholars and other researchers involved with international relations migration and development issues Economic Development in the Third World Michael P. Todaro, 1977 Textbook on economic development in developing countries discusses underdevelopment in the third world and problems of poverty unemployment income distribution and relevant economic theory and stresses interdependence of the world economy as regards food energy natural resources technology etc Diagrams glossary of terminology graphs references and statistical tables

Rethinking International Organizations Dennis Dijkzeul, Yves Beigbeder, 2003 The management of international organisations is attracting growing attention This text provides a fundamental rethinking of current approaches criticism and cures for these organisations The Many Faces of National Security in the Arab World Rex Brynen, Bahgat Korany, Paul

Noble, 2016-07-27 Two Gulf wars and the continuing Arab Israeli conflict have highlighted the salience of military factors in the Middle East This book argues however that many of the most serious security challenges to Arab states and societies are rooted not in external military threats but in the imperatives of socio economic development Contributors examine the regional security environment the social and political impact of regional militarization and underdevelopment as a source of regional insecurity The United States Institute of Peace Journal ,1990-12 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia, Volume 1 Ganesh Shivakoti,Ujjwal Pradhan,Helmi Helmi,2016-09-01 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia Volumes 1 4 brings together scientific research and policy issues across various topographical area in Asia to provide a comprehensive overview of the issues facing the region Sustainable Natural Resources Management in Dynamic Southeast Asia Volume 1 pulls together regional experts in the field to look specifically at sustainability issues across the region to see what has been implemented what the impacts have been and what other options are available In the race to be a developed region many Southeast Asian countries have foregone natural resources through haphazard use As a result the people are faced with numerous environmental challenges particularly deforestation and forest degradation biodiversity loss and ecosystem degradation reduction in soil quality and decreases in the quantity of available water Community based forest management is the involvement of local communities in the protection conservation and management of public forests to prevent degradation through sustainable practices while still responding to the basic social and economic needs of local populations When the people who depend on forest resources for their livelihoods are jointly responsible for managing and protecting them they tend to do so in a more sustainable manner by focusing on the long term benefits rather than the immediate short term gains However when tenure rights are weak unclear or insecure or offer limited benefits people are incited in extracting more immediate benefits resulting in suboptimal forest management and the reduction of carbon stocks Features case studies that cover issues such as rising levels of deforestation forest degradation regional food security ecosystem degradation biodiversity loss conflicts over natural resource use water management issues and impacts on local communities Includes contributions from local researchers who are dealing with these issues first hand and on a daily basis Includes a comparative review on REDD implementation in different communities Focuses on sustainability issues across the region Redefining Race Dina G. Okamoto,2014-09-25 In 2012 the Pew Research Center issued a report that named Asian Americans as the highest income best educated and fastest growing racial group in the United States Despite this seemingly optimistic conclusion over thirty Asian American advocacy groups challenged the findings As many pointed out the term Asian American itself is complicated It currently denotes a wide range of ethnicities national origins and languages and encompasses a number of significant economic and social disparities In Redefining Race sociologist Dina G Okamoto traces the complex evolution of this racial designation to show how the use of Asian American as a panethnic label and identity has been a deliberate social achievement negotiated by members of this group themselves rather than an organic and inevitable process Drawing on original research and a series of interviews Okamoto investigates how different Asian ethnic groups in the U S were able to create a collective identity in the wake of the Civil Rights movement in the 1960s Okamoto argues that a variety of broad social forces created the conditions for this developing panethnic identity Racial segregation for example shaped how Asian immigrants of different national origins were distributed in similar occupations and industries This segregation of Asians within local labor markets produced a shared experience of racial discrimination which encouraged Asian ethnic groups to develop shared interests and identities By constructing a panethnic label and identity ethnic group members took part in creating their own collective histories and in the process challenged and redefined current notions of race The emergence of a panethnic racial identity also depended somewhat paradoxically on different groups organizing along distinct ethnic lines in order to gain recognition and rights from the larger society According to Okamoto these ethnic organizations provided the foundation necessary to build solidarity within different Asian origin communities Leaders and community members who created inclusive narratives and advocated policies that benefited groups beyond their own were then able to move these discrete ethnic organizations toward a panethnic model For example a number of ethnic specific organizations in San Francisco expanded their services and programs to include other ethnic group members after their original constituencies dwindled A Laotian organization included refugees from different parts of Asia a Japanese organization began to advocate for South Asian populations and a Chinese organization opened its doors to Filipinos and Vietnamese As Okamoto argues the process of building ties between ethnic communities while also recognizing ethnic diversity is the hallmark of panethnicity

Redefining Race is a groundbreaking analysis of the processes through which group boundaries are drawn and contested In mapping the genesis of a panethnic Asian American identity Okamoto illustrates the ways in which concepts of race continue to shape how ethnic and immigrant groups view themselves and organize for representation in the public arena

Hughes, Yew Meng Lai, 2011-02-18 This reader brings together key contributions from many of the leading scholars in the field offering students an informed overview of the most significant work in security studies The editors chart the development of the key theoretical and empirical debates in security studies in the Cold War and post Cold War periods introducing the ideas of the most influential past masters and contemporary thinkers on security in the UK US and elsewhere The book is divided into five areas What is Security Security Paradigms Security Dimensions and Issues Security Frameworks and Actors The Future of Security In order to guide students through the issues the book has a substantial critical introduction exploring the development of security studies as well as introductory essays that provide an overview of each section highlighting clearly how the readings fit together Suggestions for further reading and key questions for discussion are also included Security Studies is an invaluable resource for all students of security studies and international relations

Constructing Global Order Amitav Acharya, 2018-03-22 For a long time international relations scholars have adopted a narrow view of what is global order who are its makers and managers and what means they employ to realize their goals Amitav Acharya argues that the nature and scope of agency in the global order who creates it and how needs to be redefined and broadened Order is built not by material power alone but also by ideas and norms While the West designed the post war order the non Western countries were not passive They contested and redefined Western ideas and norms and contributed new ones of their own making This book examines such acts of agency especially the redefinitions of sovereignty and security shaping contemporary world politics With the decline of Western dominance ideas and agency from the Rest may make it possible to imagine and build a truly global order

Rethinking Security in Nigeria Dapo Adelugba, Philip Ogo Ujomu, 2008 Rethinking Security in Nigeria adopts an alternate conceptual and methodological framework for rethinking national security in Nigeria by using the humanities multidisciplinary perspective against the backdrop of the hitherto restrictive analysis of the nature of national security By expounding the largely unexplored cosmological conceptual ethical and aesthetic dimensions as key contributors to national survival and social integration the volume argues systematically for a basic redefinition of the meanings of security the value of life government action and social re engineering in order to create a new system of social order an integration The authors attempt to extend the boundaries of previous theorizing on security by identifying alternate ethical and aesthetic approaches to national reconciliation and human development in present day Nigeria which faces major security challenges requiring the clarification of the basis for developing a just and harmonious society The study is a contribution to the quest for defining the vital socio cultural norms and doctrinal imperatives needed for responsible cooperative human action It examines the roles of dominant works of philosophy literature plays and performances in the creation of a basis for political stability and social reconciliation in the society It extends the boundaries of previous aesthetic studies and redefines the roles of ethics and aesthetics as crucial contributors to security human development and world civilisation

Rethinking Environmental Protection Phillip F. Cramer, 2000-01-01 Despite widespread popular support for environmental action Phillip F Cramer argues that current U S environmental policy approaches fail to address the real threat of environmental insecurity Cramer traces this failure to a reluctance to recognize and address the interconnectedness of natural forces just as all elements within the environment are linked so too should our perspectives on and responses to environmental degradation be linked In this book Cramer provides an innovative holistic approach to environmental protection that incorporates the best lessons learned from the fields of biology ethics philosophy political science law ecology and international relations He especially advocates local action and providing illustrative examples demonstrates how local action around the world is most effective when carried out within a global framework that supports information dissemination and international coordination This book will energize to thought and action any scholar student or general reader concerned with environmental issues and our current trajectory toward environmental decay
