Revisioning History Robert A. Rosenstone, 2020-03-31 In Revisioning History thirteen historians from around the world look at the historical film on its own terms not as it compares to written history but as a unique way of recounting the past How does film construct a historical world What are the rules codes and strategies by which it brings the past to life What does that historical construction mean to us In grappling with these questions each contributor looks at an example of New History cinema Different from Hollywood costume dramas or documentary films these films are serious efforts to come to grips with the past they have often grown out of nations engaged in an intense quest for historical connections such as India Cuba Japan and Germany The volume begins with an introduction by Robert Rosenstone Part I Contesting History comprises essays by Geoff Eley on the film Distant Voices Still Lives Nicholas B. Dirks The Home and the World Thomas Kierstead and Deidre Lynch Eijanaika and Pierre Sorlin Night of the Shooting Stars Contributing to Part II Visioning History are Michael S. Art of Illusion Dan Karlholm, 2006 To survey art history as a whole was a pressing task for a generation of German scholars around the mid nineteenth century Their projections of a historicist chain of artworks ranged from textual narratives without illustrations to separate picture compendia as well as images of a more allegorical kind Other means with which to picture art history as part of a virtually all encompassing cultural history were the museums of art erected in Germany at the time in Berlin and Munich especially This book deals with practices of representing art history in various media This includes post Hegelian texts and engravings of art history from the 1840s onwards by Franz Kugler Julius Schnorr and others In addition works of art of the late twentieth century by Andy Warhol Anselm Kiefer and others provide opportunities to speculate on the after effects and discursive traces of the old regime Extending the concept of historiography to include not just textual or institutional endeavours but a host of different images as well from reproductive prints to pop paintings and visual archives of the digital era this study is intended to contribute in new ways to a critical historiography of the field of art history and visual culture today

Nietzsche on Time and History Manuel Dries, 2008-11-06 In 1885 Nietzsche insisted that from now on philosophy was only acceptable as the most general form of history as an attempt somehow to describe Heraclitean becoming and to abbreviate it into signs Taking this remark as a starting point the aim of this volume is to examine the intricate relationship between Nietzsche's philosophy of time and his philosophy of history The questions that arise include What are the new conceptions of time that Nietzsche has to offer What kind of historian was Nietzsche himself What kinds of temporalized histories and historicized philosophies did he write or fail to write This collection of essays written by fourteen academics including eminent figures such as John Richardson Raymond Geuss Lawrence J Hatab and Andrea Orsucci constitute essential reading for specialists of Nietzsche and will also appeal to a larger audience of intellectual historians philosophers and others who are interested in the development of modern thought

Post-Structuralism and the Question of History Derek Attridge, Geoff Bennington, Robert Young, 1987 Recent developments in literary theory such as structuralism and deconstruction have come under attack for neglecting history while historically based approaches have been criticized for failing to take account of the problems inherent in their methodological foundations This collection of essays is unique in that it focuses on the relation between post structuralism and historical especially Marxist literary theory and criticism The volume includes a deconstructive reading of Marx essays that relate history to the philosophical and institutional context and a number of studies of particular texts literary and non literary which pose the question of history and literary theory with particular force

Cultural History After Foucault John Neubauer, 2018-01-18 Both as historian and maker of culture Foucault infused numerous disciplines of study with a new conceptual vocabulary and an agenda for future research His ideas have called central assumptions in Western culture into question and altered the ways in which scholars and social scientists approach such issues as discourse theory theory of knowledge Eros technologies of the Self and Other punishment and prisons and asylums and madness The contributors to this volume indicate Foucault's achievements and the suggestive power of his work as well as his methodological weaknesses historical inaccuracies and ambiguities Above all they attempt to show how one can use Foucault to go beyond him in opening new approaches to cultural history Though comprehensiveness was not attempted their essays broach the major controversial aspects of Foucauldian cultural history the position of the subject the fusion of power and knowledge sexuality the historical structures and changes and they explicitly analyze them with respect to antiquity the Renaissance and the nineteenth century In this collection Neubauer presents analyses by historians literary scholars and philosophers of the entire transdisciplinary range of Foucault's oeuvre emphasizing the rich suggestiveness of its agenda The breadth of the undertaking makes it suitable for seminars and graduate courses in numerous departments
