

Research Infrastructures and the European Research Area

- Lisbon 2000
 - “the most dynamic and competitive knowledge-based economy in the world capable of sustainable economic growth with more and better jobs and greater social cohesion, and respect for the environment by 2010”
 - Europe has a long tradition of excellence in research and innovation;
 - European teams continue to lead progress in many fields of science and technology;
 - However our centres of excellence often fail to reach critical mass in the absence of adequate networking and cooperation;
 - Need to bring resources together and build a research and innovation equivalent of the “common market”.
