Wright,1991-12-02 Wright examines these churches historical connections with the outside world and their newly cultivated interest in international politics He argues that the clerical and missionary lite s vision of a new internationalism was burdened by essentially Victorian ideas of the inherent superiority of Protestant Christianity political democracy and Anglo Saxon race characteristics Tensions between its traditional world view and the new realities of international and inter racial relations eventually made this vision untenable According to Wright the Canadian churches of mainline Protestantism tried to find a middle ground They relaxed the link between conversion and westernization and came to accept the legitimacy of indigenous churches in Asia and Africa Although they ultimately stuck to their theme of Christian brotherhood and service they confronted the theological challenges of reconciling Christianity with other belief systems and the intellectual revolution in the West And although they paid ritual respect to the League of Nations and collective security and accepted war in 1939 as necessary they showed keen interest in disarmament While the ambivalence of this middle ground had some tragic consequences such as the incapacity of the Canadian Protestant leadership to lobby forcefully on behalf of either European Jewish refugees in the 1930s or Japanese Canadians interred during World War II there were successes in humanitarian relief and educational work abroad The churches activities also helped shape the international role of the Christian community and their eventual acceptance of both ethnic diversity and the developing nations right to self determination laid much of the groundwork for Canada s post war approach to foreign aid and development     Jack S Japonica Jack Nakamoto,2011-01-19 This book is dedicated to the late Principal Tatsue Sato 1891 1983 and his wife Hanako for having spent fifty years teaching Japanese language insisting us second generation Japanese Canadians the Nisei to be good Canadian citizens When the Pearl Harbor attack took place December 7 1941 he immediately called to assembly about a thousand students to declare firmly to stand loyal and faithful to Canada This occurred while I was in England serving with the Canadian army He was later awarded the Order of Canada in 1978 for his enriching Canadian society by the introduction of the best elements of Japanese culture And the school where he had taught still running today was designated a historic site by Vancouver British Columbia on June 25 2000      Good Housekeeping ,1924      Church Missionary Intelligencer and Record ,1924
