Canadian Hockey Literature Jason Blake, 2010-03-06 Hockey occupies a prominent place in the Canadian cultural lexicon as evidenced by the wealth of hockey-centred stories and novels published within Canada. In this exciting new work, Jason Blake takes readers on a thematic journey through Canadian hockey literature, examining five common themes: nationhood, the hockey dream, violence, national identity, and family as they appear in hockey fiction. Blake examines the work of such authors as Mordecai Richler, David Adams Richards, Paul Quarrington, and Richard B. Wright, arguing that a study of contemporary hockey fiction exposes a troubled relationship with the national sport. Rather than the storybook happy ending common in sports literature of previous generations, Blake finds that today's fiction portrays hockey as an often glorified sport that in fact leads to broken lives and ironic outlooks. The first book to focus exclusively on hockey in print, Canadian Hockey Literature is an accessible work that challenges popular perceptions of a much beloved national pastime.

Producing Canadian Literature Kit Dobson, Smaro Kamboureli, 2013-06-15 Producing Canadian Literature: Authors Speak on the Literary Marketplace brings to light the relationship between writers in Canada and the marketplace within which their work circulates. Through a series of conversations with both established and younger writers from across the country, Kit Dobson and Smaro Kamboureli investigate how writers perceive their relationship to the cultural economy and what that economy means for their creative processes. The interviews in Producing Canadian Literature focus in particular on how writers interact with the cultural institutions and bodies that surround them. Conversations pursue the impacts of arts funding on writers, show how agents, editors, and publishers affect writers' works, examine the process of actually selling a book both in Canada and abroad, and contemplate what literary awards mean to writers. Dialogues with Christian B. K. George, Elliott Clarke, Daniel Heath Justice, Larissa Lai, Stephen Henighan, Roy Miki, Erin Moure, Ashok Mathur, Lee Maracle, Jane Urquhart, and Aritha van Herk testify to the broad range of experience that writers in Canada have when it comes to the conditions in which their work is produced. Original in its desire to directly explore the specific circumstances in which writers work and how those conditions affect their writing itself, Producing Canadian Literature will be of interest to scholars, students, aspiring writers, and readers who have followed these authors and want to know more about how their books come into being.

Canadian hockey novels draws on history sport sociology and literary criticism to challenge assumptions and stereotypes about identity With the return of the Winnipeg Jets refuelling hockey nationalism and the public debate over hockey violence intensifying Refereeing Identity is a timely and incisive account of how the game is represented and misrepresented in Canadian society
