Reports of Cases Argued and Determined in the Supreme Court of Louisiana and in the Superior Court of the Territory of Louisiana. [1809-1896] Louisiana. Supreme Court, Thomas Courtland Manning, François-Xavier Martin, Merritt M. Robinson, 1911

Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Reports United States. Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Greening the Red, White, and Blue Thomas Jundt, 2014-03-12

In popular imagination environmentalism is often linked to Rachel Carson's Silent Spring and the political activism of the 1960s and 70s that moved increasing numbers of Americans to insist on a better quality of life open spaces clean air and water beautification campaigns But these interpretations have obscured the significant origins of environmentalism as a moral and intellectual broadside against the growing power of corporate capitalism both domestically and in the postwar liberal international order the United States was enacting abroad In Greening the Red White and Blue Thomas Jundt shows how many Americans came to view powerful corporations and a federal government bent on economic growth as threats to human health and the environment Fallout from atomic testing air and water pollution the proliferation of pesticides and herbicides all connected to the growing dominance of technology and corporate capitalism in American life led a variety of constituencies to seek solutions in what came to be known as environmentalism In addition to political and legal campaigns to effect change an alternative form of civic participation emerged beginning in the late 1940s as growing numbers of citizens turned to what they deemed environmentally friendly consumption practices The goal of this politically charged consumption was not only to protect themselves and their families from harm but also to achieve social change at a time when many believed the government was placing the desires of business before the needs of its citizens Politicians responded to the growing environmental concerns of middle class Americans but in the end continual political compromises with corporate power meant weak laws and lax enforcement Many citizens sought refuge in an alternative green marketplace including organic foods natural fiber clothing alternative energy and everyday products designed to have minimal environmental impact In doing so they attempted to create a community for those who shared their concerns and frustrations as well as their vision for a different American Way Thomas Jundt's work highlights the intertwining of consumerism and environmentalism amidst the growing power of corporate capitalism and government in postwar America

Electric Light and Power, 1926 Dynamic Perspectives on Managerial Decision Making Herbert Dawid, Karl F. Doerner, Gustav Feichtinger, Peter M. Kort, Andrea Seidl, 2016-09-15

This volume collects research papers addressing topical issues in economics and management with a particular focus on dynamic models which allow to analyze and foster the decision making of firms in dynamic complex environments The scope of the contributions ranges from daily operational challenges firms face to strategic choices in dynamic industry environments and the analysis of optimal growth paths The volume also highlights recent methodological developments in the areas of dynamic optimization dynamic games and meta heuristics
