

Saltwater People

Nonie Sharp

Saltwater People:

Saltwater People Nonie Sharp, 2002-01-01 In October of 2001 the Australian High Court confirmed aboriginal title to two thousand kilometres of ocean off the north coast. The decision, which was the result of a seven year court battle, highlighted aboriginal belief that the sea is a gift from the creator to be used for sustenance, spirituality, identity and community. This evocative study of the people of northern coastal Australia and their sea worlds illuminates the power of human attachment to place. Saltwater People: The Waves of Memory offers a cross disciplinary approach to native land claims that incorporates historical and contemporary case studies from not only Australia but also New Zealand, Scandinavia, the US and Canada. Nonie Sharp discusses various issues of indigenous heritage including land claims, concepts of public and private property, poverty and the environment. Despite dispossession, the aboriginals of northern coastal Australia never faltered in their devotion to the sea, illustrating how profoundly such bonds are preserved in memory. Their moving story of surviving and winning a lengthy court battle provides valuable information for all countries dealing with similar issues of rights to tenure and natural resources. Sharp provides the first book length study of an integrated statement on the many defining qualities of the cultural relationship of aboriginals, non aboriginals and the concept of ownership over the sea and illustrates the wisdom that different traditions can offer one another. Wealth of the Solomons Judith A. Bennett, 1987-05-01 Du site de l d

The history of the Solomon Islands is in itself an intriguing story and Dr Bennett tells it more than well. The depth and breadth of the work is impressive in at least two respects. First it covers events in the Solomons from initial European contact in the middle 1500s to the country's emergence as an independent and sovereign state in 1978. Second, all facets of colonial history are covered, to name only a few: the early contact period, the whaling trade, the development of plantations, the nature of British colonial rule and missionization. Considering the scope of this volume, it represents a definitive history of the Solomon Islands and it will remain so for many years to come. Island Rivers John R. Wagner, Jerry K. Jacka, 2018-06-19

Anthropologists have written a great deal about the coastal adaptations and seafaring traditions of Pacific Islanders but have had much less to say about the significance of rivers for Pacific island culture, livelihood and identity. The authors of this collection seek to fill that gap in the ethnographic record by drawing attention to the deep historical attachments of island communities to rivers and the ways in which those attachments are changing in response to various forms of economic development and social change. In addition to making a unique contribution to Pacific island ethnography, the authors of this volume speak to a global set of issues of immense importance to a world in which water scarcity, conflict, pollution and the degradation of riparian environments afflict growing numbers of people. Several authors take a political ecology approach to their topic but the emphasis here is less on hydro politics than on the cultural meaning of rivers to the communities we describe. How has the cultural significance of rivers shifted as a result of colonisation, development and nation building? How do people whose identities are fundamentally rooted in their relationship to a particular river renegotiate that relationship?

when the river is dammed to generate hydro power or polluted by mining activities How do blockages in the flow of rivers and underground springs interrupt the intergenerational transmission of local ecological knowledge and hence the ability of local communities to construct collective identities rooted in a sense of place Human Families Stevan Harrell, 2018-02-23

This detailed study maps variations in family systems throughout the world focusing on the ways families cooperate and interact with their societies Harrell describes families in nomadic bands traditional African societies Polynesian and Micronesian societies native societies of the Pacific Northwest coast preindustrial class societies and modern industrial societies His extensive case studies are clearly illustrated with unique diagrams that allow comparison of complex groups and family processes extending over a generation This detailed study maps the variations in family systems throughout the world focusing on the ways families interact with their societies Tracing the developmental cycle of families in a wide range of times and places Stevan Harrell shows how family members in different societies must cooperate to perform various activities and thus organize themselves in particular ways Within six major divisions the book describes families in nomadic bands traditional African societies Polynesian and Micronesian societies native societies of the Pacific Northwest coast preindustrial class societies and modern industrial societies Within each group the authors copious examples demonstrate the variation from one family system to another His case studies are clearly illustrated with a unique set of diagrams that allow comparison of complex groups and of family processes extending over a generation Scholars and advanced students alike will find this ambitious book an invaluable resource

MAKARRATA Michael Chambers, 2025-06-07 This is a historical romance set in Arnhem Land the remote wild far north of Australia Aboriginal land It is the epic tale of a proud saltwater people the Yol u who were influential in Australia long before European settlement From the last significant raft migration in 3000 BC to the mysterious arrival of golden coins from an ancient African empire captivating stories emerge from the warm tropical seas recounting devastating cyclones shipwrecks and encounters with Indonesian pirates Experience this ancient people s incredible culture sorcery and ceremonies as they spear hunt giant crocodiles and confront deadly snakes and ferocious sharks The narrative weaves passionate tales of love healing and redemption Well into the 20th century modernity arrives with the first missionaries During 1943 while Japanese forces were bombing Darwin the Yol u were already engaged in their own struggle Here ancient culture and lifestyle encounter the forces of modern civilisation The story culminates in what may be the most significant Christian revival in Australia s history When Australian Prime Ministers seek to hear from Aboriginal people they often travel to this region to listen to Yol u voices It was here that Matthew Flinders first declared the name Australia over two centuries ago Home to Australias first Space Base Arnhem Land is famous for its Bark Petitions the evocative music of Gurramul and the primal sounds of Yothu Yindi MAKARRATA will thrill inform and inspire This is a rewarding book to read I have taught all over Australia but I began my career teaching in a remote outstation school in Arnhem Land where I learned about their culture language and customs so uniquely portrayed by Michael Chambers in this book These stories are immensely entertaining both for their scope and authenticity

Tradition and Christianity Ben Burt, 2021-09-01 Burt studies the effects of the 19th century labour trade colonial subjugation and the subsequent Christian conversion He examines the anti colonial Maasina Rule movement of the 1940s and finally illustrates the subsequent efforts of Kwara'ae leaders to regain their self determination and to reaffirm the values of tradition under Christianity The Kwara'ae example of colonialism and Christianity is part of the broader experience of Melanesia and of other peoples in the Third World who once lived a tribal life The detailed local focus based on a year of fieldwork provides valuable evidence essential to a wider comparative analysis of colonial history and the continuing development of indigenous Christianity from an anthropological and a historical perspective Tradition and Christianity explores how and why a Pacific Islands people fiercely attached to the tradition of their ancestors have transformed their society by changing their religion

Migrant Nation Paul Longley Arthur, 2017-12-15 Focusing on particular historical blind spots by telling stories of individuals and groups that did not fit the favoured identity mould the essays in Migrant Nation work within the gap between Australian image and experience and offer fresh insights into the other side of identity construction The volume casts light on the hidden face of Australian identity and remembers the experiences of a wide variety of people who have generally been excluded neglected or simply forgotten in the long running quest to tell a unified story of Australian culture and identity Drawing upon memories letters interviews and documentary fragments as well as rich archives the authors have in common a commitment to give life to neglected histories and thus to include in an expanding and open ended national narrative people who were cast as strangers in the place that was their home

The Last Heathen Charles Montgomery, 2009-09-01 In 1892 the Bishop of Tasmania set sail for Melanesia with the intent of rescuing islanders from lives of fear black magic and cannibalism Over 100 years later his great grandson Charles Montgomery followed the bishop's route through the South Pacific seeking out the spirits and myths his missionary forebear had sought to destroy Montgomery explored remote shores where gospel and empire never took hold He rubbed shoulders with barefoot preachers witch doctors and gun toting rebels only to discover that the pagan spirits were more tenacious than the missionaries had imagined Melanesians had stirred Jesus and Mary into an already spicy broth of ancestor worship ghosts shark gods and magic Through confrontations with a bizarre cast of characters the randy ethnographer the soft talking assassin the leper prophet the journey becomes a debate on the nature of magic myth and faith and a metaphor for the transforming power of story The Last Heathen marks the debut of an exciting young writer who charts his adventures with passion insight and grace

Finding God Among our Neighbors, Volume 2 Kristin Johnston Lergen, 2017-02-01 For too many students Christian theology is learned in isolation from other religions traditions With this the second volume of her important work Kristin Johnston Lergen returns to expand the systematic theology she began in the original volume Lergen places the work of Christian theology soundly within the interreligious dialogue that is the defining feature of our time In doing so she prepares students of theology for the task of understanding and articulating their Christian beliefs in the context of a religiously and culturally diverse world In the original volume Lergen focused her work on three loci God Creation and Humanity In this second volume she expands the project to include salvation the Church and the Holy Spirit As before each locus is set within the broader context of interreligious dialogue by considering how the varied beliefs of the world's religious traditions inform our understanding of our own tradition This volume explores indigenous religions Sikhism Confucianism and Daoism in particular

An Otago Storeman in Solomon Islands Tim Bayliss-Smith, Judith A. Bennett, 2012-10-01 An Otago Storeman in Solomon Islands reaches from inland South Island of New Zealand across to the Solomon Islands during the 1880s William Crossan's Otago experience as a versatile storeman with a solid work ethic helped him survive on the Melanesian frontier where he encountered conflicting clans cannibalism cheating traders and co-operative entrepreneurial big men His diary provides many glimpses into Makiran society as it encountered new ideas new employment and western technology It is a welcome addition to the sparse record of these cryptic copra traders seeking fortunes on the cusp of indigenous tradition and incoming colonialism
