Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal , 1969

Theology, Music, and Modernity Jeremy Begbie, Daniel K L Chua, Markus Rathey, 2021-02-02 Theology Music and Modernity addresses the question how can the study of music contribute to a theological reading of modernity It has grown out of the conviction that music has often been ignored in narrations of modernity s theological struggles Featuring contributions from an international team of distinguished theologians musicologists and music theorists the volume shows how music and discourse about music has remarkable powers to bring to light the theological currents that have shaped modern culture It focuses on the concept of freedom concentrating on the years 1740 1850 a period when freedom especially religious and political freedom became a burning matter of concern in virtually every stratum of Western society The collection is divided into four sections each section focusing on a key phenomenon of this period the rise of the concept of revolutionary freedom the move of music from church to concert hall the cry for eschatological justice in the work of black hymn writer and church leader Richard Allen and the often fierce tensions between music and language There is a particular concern to draw on a distinctively Scriptural imagination especially the theme of New Creation in order to elicit the key issues at stake and to suggest constructive ways forward for a contemporary Christian theological engagement with the legacies of modernity today

Variations of the Hero's Journey in Contemporary British, French and Australian Picture Books about the Great War Martin C. Kerby, Denise Burkhard, Alison Bedford, Marion Gymnich, Margaret M. Baguley, 2025-09-30 This book is grounded in the belief that every nation had its own Great War and that children s picture books are an important barometer of each country s national approach To explore the depiction of the Great War in modern Australian British and French children s picture books where this historical event is reimagined in different ways as a futile conflict as a painful victory and as part of one country s founding mythology this book uses the concept of the hero s journey as an underlying framework It claims that this monomythic pattern as developed by Joseph Campbell and modified by Christopher Vogler not only informs all picture books selected for this project but can also be used to highlight the extent to which modern children s picture book authors and illustrators conform to their respective nation s cultural memory It further maintains that the specific historical context of the Great War in these children s picture books can be used to identify a variant of the hero's journey the ordinary soldier's journey This analysis of children's picture books about the Great War through the lens of Campbell's hero's journey will be of interest to both students and researchers in the fields of children's literature literary theory history cultural studies and education

Modern Jewish Literatures Sheila E. Jelen, Michael P. Kramer, L. Scott Lerner, 2011-06-06 Is there such a thing as a distinctive Jewish literature While definitions have been offered none has been universally accepted Modern Jewish literature lacks the basic markers of national literatures it has neither a common geography nor a shared language though works in Hebrew or Yiddish are almost certainly included and the field is so diverse that it cannot be contained within the bounds of one literary category Each of the fifteen essays collected in Modern Jewish Literatures takes on the above question by describing a movement across boundaries between languages cultures genres or spaces Works in Hebrew and Yiddish are amply represented but works in English French German Italian Ladino and Russian are also considered Topics range from the poetry of the Israeli nationalist Natan Alterman to the Russian poet Osip Mandelstam from turn of the century Ottoman Jewish journalism to wire recorded Holocaust testimonies from the intellectual salons of late eighteenth century Berlin to the shelves of a Jewish bookstore in twentieth century Los Angeles The literary world described in Modern Jewish Literatures is demarcated chronologically by the Enlightenment the Haskalah and the French Revolution on one end and the fiftieth anniversary of the State of Israel on the other The particular terms of the encounter between a Jewish past and present for modern Jews has varied greatly by continent country or village by language and by social standing among other things What unites the subjects of these studies is not a common ethnic religious or cultural history but rather a shared endeavor to use literary production and writing in general as the laboratory in which to explore and represent Jewish experience in the modern world French Historians 1900-2000 Philip Daileader, Philip Whalen, 2010-03-16 French Historians 1900 2000 The New Historical Writing in Twentieth Century France examines the lives and writings of 40 of France's great twentieth century historians Blends biography with critical analysis of major works placing the work of the French historians in the context of their lifetimes Includes contributions from over 30 international scholars Provides English speaking readers with a new insight into the key French historians of the last century The New International Encyclopædia Daniel Coit Gilman, Harry Thurston Peck, Frank Moore Colby, 1903 Municipal Journal and Public Works ,1899 New American Supplement to the Latest Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a Standard Work of Reference in Art, Literature, Science, History, Geography, Commerce, Biography, Discovery and Invention ,1897 American Architect and Building News ,1893
