Shaping Sanctuary Kelly Turney, 2000      Shaping the Church Martyn Percy, 2016-04-01 This book seeks to dynamically alter the way that theologians ecclesiologists students of religion and ministers look at the church Taking the ideas of composition formation and vocation as basic ecclesial categories Martyn Percy explores how apparently innocent and incidental material is in fact highly significant for the shaping of theological and ecclesiological horizons The Introduction sets the tone with a meditation on how the apparently ordinary scent of a country church can be redolent with meaning setting the tone of expectation in relation to subsequent worship This book is not however simply about reading meanings into events ideas conversations and contexts Rather it sets out to faithfully interpret much of the material that surrounds us yet is often taken for granted or more usually unnoticed The book is an invitation to involve the scholar or minister paying close and patient attention to beliefs language artefacts rituals practices and other material all of which are constitutive for ecclesial life and theological identity      Heritage and War William Bülow, Helen Frowe, Derek Matravers, Joshua Lewis Thomas, 2023 Heritage and War investigates a variety of philosophical and moral questions arising from the phenomenon of heritage destruction in war      Shaping Ceremony Mary B. Disability, Medicine, and Healing Discourse in Early Christianity Susan R. Holman, Chris L. de Wet, Jonathan L. Zeicher, 2023-08-04 Using contemporary theories drawn from health humanities this volume analyses the nature and effects of disability medicine and health discourse in a variety of early Christian literature In recent years the medical turn in early Christian studies has developed a robust literature around health disability and medicine and the health humanities have made critical interventions in modern conversations around the aims of health and the nature of healthcare Considering these developments it has become clear that early Christian texts and ideas have much to offer modern conversations and that these texts are illuminated using theoretical lenses drawn from modern medicine and public health The chapters in this book explore different facets of early Christian engagement with medicine either in itself or as metaphor and material for theological reflections on human impairment restoration and flourishing Through its focus on late antique religious texts the book raises questions around the social rather than biological aspects of illness and diminishment as a human experience as well as the strategies by which that experience is navigated The result is an innovative and timely intervention in the study of health and healthcare that bridges current divides between historical studies and contemporary issues Taken together the book offers a prismatic conversation of perspectives on aspects of care at the heart of societal and individual wellness today inviting readers to meet or revisit patristic texts as tracings across a map of embodied identity dissonance and corporal care It is a fascinating resource for anyone working on ancient medicine and health or the social worlds of early Christianity
