Play in a Covid Frame Anna Beresin, Julia Bishop, 2023-06-01 During the international coronavirus lockdowns of 2020-2021 millions of children youth and adults found their usual play areas out of bounds and their friends out of reach How did the pandemic restrict everyday play and how did the pandemic offer new spaces and new content This unique collection of essays documents the ways in which communities around the world harnessed play within the limiting frame of Covid 19 Folklorists Anna Beresin and Julia Bishop adopt a multidisciplinary approach to this phenomenon bringing together the insights of a geographically and demographically diverse range of scholars practitioners and community activists The book begins with a focus on social and physical landscapes before moving onto more intimate portraits of play among the old and young including coronavirus themed games and novel toy inventions Finally the co authors explore the creative shifts observed in frames of play ranging from Zoom screens to street walls This singular chronicle of coronavirus play will be of interest to researchers and students of developmental psychology childhood studies education playwork sociology anthropology and folklore as well as to toy museum and landscape designers This book will also be of help to parents professional organizations educators and urban planners with a postscript of concrete suggestions advocating for the essential role of play in a post pandemic world

The British Toy Business Kenneth D. Brown, 1996-01-01 At its height British toymaking was a significant industry with famous names such as Britains and Meccano known throughout the world While in essence a specialised form of small scale engineering its products and market have always been unique reflecting the current priorities of both parents and children Yet while individual toys and marques have been catalogued extensively no previous history of toymaking as a whole exists The British Toy Business provides a fascinating example of the development of a specific industry Many early early toys were home made From the eighteenth century with its growing recognition of children as something other than small adults date the beginnings of specialised toys usually produced by small workshops and sold by street sellers The nineteenth century with its industrial growth and middle class prosperity saw an expansion of toymaking The 1960s and 1970s were the most successful years of British toymaking with companies like Lesney making record profits Yet British toy makers failed to solve a number of fundamental problems Following an unexpected sudden downturn in sales at a time of high interest rates the major names in British toy making Lesney Airfix Mettoy and Dunbee Combex Marx all collapsed between 1979 and 1985 leaving the business to be dominated largely by importers
