James DeKoven John E. Magerus,2025-02-27 Calls for a biography of James DeKoven were voiced soon after his death in 1879 When he died he was considered the best known Episcopalian in the country Yet twenty years later when the first inadequate biography of DeKoven was published he had almost been forgotten This new biography researched and written by the former archivist of the DeKoven Center in Racine Wisconsin follows the trajectory of his life from son of a well established merchant family in Connecticut to his education in New York City and then to his move in 1854 to the frontier of the young state of Wisconsin Previously unavailable sources including letters and memoirs have been used to complete the historical record Most importantly his personal journal has been studied in detail to gain insight into his ideas concerning education religion and leadership The Literary Angel AmiJo Comeford,Tamy Burnett,2014-01-10 The fictionalized Los Angeles of television's Angel is a world filled with literature from the all important Shansu prophecy that predicts Angel's return to a state of humanity to the ever present books dominating the characters' research sessions This collection brings together essays that engage Angel as a text to be addressed within the wider fields of narrative and literature. It is divided into four distinct parts, each with its own internal governing themes and focus: archetypes, narrative and identity theory and philosophy, and genre. Each provides opportunities for readers to examine a wide variety of characters, tropes, and literary nuances and influences throughout all five televised seasons of the series and in the current continuation of the series in comic book form.

Televisual Shared Universes CarrieLynn D. Reinhard, Vincent Tran, 2023-10-03

This book of empirical studies analyzes examples of televisual shared universes since the 1960s to understand how the nature of televised serial narratives and network corporate policies have long created shared storyworlds. While there has been much discussion about shared cinematic universes and comic book universes, the concept has had limited exploration in other media such as those seen on the smaller screen. By applying convergence culture and other contemporary media studies concepts to television's history, contributors demonstrate the common activities and practices in serial narratives that align older television with contemporary television, simultaneously bridging the gap between old media and new media studies. Scholars of film studies, media studies, and popular culture will find this book of particular interest.
