NGOs and Civil Society in Thailand critically examines the relationships of civil society to nongovernmental organisations in Thailand and examines the NGOisation of civil society how NGOs are funded and governed and in what way the NGOs has been shaped to work with the funder NGOisation is a phenomenon by which the funded organisations are impelled to transform suit their funder as reliable partners Focusing on Thailand an Asian country where NGOs have been heavily relied on the public sector for funding the book analyses the relations between NGOs and their significant funder Thailand Health Promotion Foundation THPF one of the biggest and most influential players in the NGO sector As the NGO funded organisations are impelled to transform and adapt to become more professionalised institutionalised bureaucratised and depoliticised to suit their funder as reliable partners their characteristics and relations with the state are complex and interactive Engaging with key stakeholders in the field of NGO and public governance in Thailand the book demonstrates how THPF changed the NGO landscape integrating them and innovatively coordinating non state initiatives into public governance system A novel contribution to the study of NGOs and the state the book also addresses NGO transformation politics and governance It will be of interest to academics working on Asian Politics civil society public policy and public management NGOs and Civil Society Ann Hudock, 1999-06-09 This accessible book provides a concise introduction to the way in which non governmental organizations NGOs work NGOs, Civil Society, and the Public Sphere Sabine Lang, 2013 This book investigates how nongovernmental organizations can become stronger advocates for citizens and better representatives of their interests Sabine Lang analyzes the choices that NGOs face in their work for policy change between working in institutional settings and practicing public advocacy that incorporates constituents voices Civil Society, Citizenship and Learning Agnieszka Bron, Michael Schemmann, 2001 Writing the story of democracy might seem like writing a story of success In more and more countries all over the world democracy has been established as the leading form of government However democracy also has a less positive and optimistic side Political scandals and corruption continue to shatter people s trust in its promises and institutions This brings us to the topic of active democratic citizenship and civil society Since the late 1980s these topics have continued to rise in importance in the fields of social and political sciences and their influence has yet to reach a peak In comparison civil society and citizenship remain relatively new topics for adult education dating to the beginning of the 1990s We also see that the respective national discourses within the different European countries differ immensely Whereas the discourse on adult education and active democratic citizenship is quite lively in Great Britain or in Poland in Germany there is only very little interest Civil Society Citizenship and Learning the second volume of the Bochum Studies in International Adult Education presents a variety of different perspectives on the topics of citizenship and civil society The goal of this book is to give an overview of the European discourse on citizenship and civil society as well as on the discourse in some selected countries Agnieszka Bron ist Professorin am Institut f r P dagogik der Universit t Bochum The NGO Challenge for International Relations Theory William E. DeMars,Dennis

Dijkzeul,2015-02-11 It has become commonplace to observe the growing pervasiveness and impact of Non Governmental Organizations NGOs And yet the three central approaches in International Relations IR theory Liberalism Realism and Constructivism overlook or ignore the importance of NGOs both theoretically and politically Offering a timely reappraisal of NGOs and a parallel reappraisal of theory in IR the academic discipline entrusted with revealing and explaining world politics this book uses practice theory global governance and new institutionalism to theorize NGO accountability and analyze the history of NGOs This study uses evidence from empirical data from Europe Africa Latin America the Middle East and Asia and from studies that range across the issue areas of peacebuilding ethnic reconciliation and labor rights to show IR theory has often prejudged and misread the agency of NGOs Drawing together a group of leading international relations theorists this book explores the frontiers of new research on the role of such forces in world politics and is required reading for students NGO activists and policy makers Civil Society and Peacebuilding in Sierra Leone Vandy

Kanyako,2024-04-23 This book investigates the important role of local actors in Sierra Leone in helping to foster peace and provide for the needs of vulnerable populations following the end of the civil war Despite severe economic political and in some cases security challenges local civil society organizations in Sierra Leone have expanded rapidly over the last 20 years incorporating their local knowledge and traditions into their work to cater to the needs of war affected populations However the preference of international development donors for funneling resources and technical assistance through civil society groups at the expense of central government has also created some resentment and backlash This book examines this intersection between civil society donors and government in Sierra Leone considering both the relevance of civil society activities and their limitations and what this means ultimately for human security in the country Highlighting the importance of African civil society actors as proactive agents of change this book will be of interest to researchers and stakeholders across the fields of African peacebuilding development and conflict resolution Building Civil Society in Authoritarian

For many commentators global civil society is revolutionising our approach to global politics as new non state based and border free expressions of political community challenge territorial sovereignty as the exclusive basis for political community and identity This challenge from below to the nation state system is increasingly seen as promising nothing less than a reconstruction or a re imagination of world politics itself Whether in terms of the democratisation of the institutions of global governance the spread of human rights across the world or the emergence of a global citizenry in a worldwide public sphere global civil society is understood by many to provide the agency necessary for these hoped for transformations Global Civil Society asks whether this idea is such a qualitatively new phenomenon after all whether the transformation of the nation state system is actually within its reach and what some of the drawbacks might be The 'Civil Society' Problematique Adedayo Oluwakayode Adekson,2004-03-01 This volume deftly undertakes both a theoretical deconstruction of the concept of civil society and related themes including civility and an empirical analysis of the radicalization process in Southern Nigeria

Civil Society and the Internet in Japan Isa Duche,2007-03-06 Using case studies interviews and empirical sources this book analyzes the strategies and impact of Internet use by civil society actors and asks how useful it is for their work does the availability of Internet tools change the way citizens groups work does it influence their effectiveness and does it do so differently in Japan from other countries Four fascinating studies take a closer look at the role of the Internet during the history textbook controversy strategies of small citizen s groups comparisons between internet use in Japan Korea and Germany and how the internet is used as a platform to discuss the dispatch of Japanese troops in Iraq Isa Duche has produced an original work that will be of interest to students and scholars of Japanese politics media and information technology and civil society The Coming African Hour Luc Sindjoun,2010 The Coming African hour is not a slogan nor wishful thinking It is a conclusion that derives from an insightful analysis of the current situation pertaining on the continent Several African scholars coming from different regions and academic backgrounds are elaborating ideas and arguments in order to explain the constraints and to illustrate the opportunities The result of that scientific gathering is a book that synthesizes and renews the reflections on development What is at stake is not to be pessimistic or optimistic about Africa The epistemological challenge is to understand what is going on By focusing on converging and diverging African realities on the issues of state civil society gender and development strategies the authors of the book show under which conditions the African hour is coming At that level the commitment for political science meets the commitment for Africa The main success of this book is to overcome the preconceived ideas and self fulfilling prophecies about Africa Here the analysis avoids the trap of indulgence then hope is based on truth Consequently the coming African hour is not inescapable it is as analyzed a possibility that its achievement depends on institutional human political social and economic factors Globalization, Philanthropy, and Civil Society David C. Hammack, Steven Heydemann, 2009-06-22 The essays in this book reflect pioneering efforts to study the global movement of ideas and institutions They deal with topics of significant contemporary importance initiatives to address the AIDS epidemic in East Africa to protect the peoples and ecosystems of the Amazon to advance the truth and reconciliation process in South Africa and in other areas of great conflict to promote civil society in Eastern Europe and Central Asia to advocate for environmental protection in the United States Great Britain Germany and Japan and to spread Rotary Clubs and encourage social entrepreneurship throughout the world These essays highlight a wide range of research paying close attention to the realities of particular situations and to current thinking about general processes

Post-Soviet Civil Society Anders Uhlin, 2006-03-20 The development of civil society has varied greatly across the former Soviet Union The Baltic states have achieved a high level of integration with the West and European Union membership while some regions in Russia lag far behind Now for the first time there is a comparative study of civil society and democratization across post Soviet national borders Acknowledging the enormous variation throughout the region the book offers unique data on developments in Russia Estonia Latvia and Lithuania Applying an innovative analytical framework derived from theories of democratization civil society social movements and transnational relations the researchers have formulated broader comparisons and generalisations without neglecting the specific post Soviet context The book provides a systematic comparison across sectors as well as nations and includes chapters on NGOs the state and conflict and transnationalisation Quantitative survey data is combined with qualitative interviews and case study research to both confirm previous findings about the weakness of post communist civil society and to qualify previous research Power and Transnational on the following social and political issues China and Tibet HIV AIDS climate change child labour the WTO women and the UN the global public sphere regional integration national power world social forums policing media power and global civil society It will be of interest to students and scholars of globalization global sociology and international politics Women's Emancipation and Civil Society Organisations Schwabenland, Christina Lange, Chris, 2016-10-05 Available Open Access under CC BY NC ND licence Women are at the heart of civil society organisations Through them they have achieved many successes challenged oppressive practices at a local and global level and have developed outstanding entrepreneurial activities Yet Civil Service Organisation CSO research tends to ignore considerations of gender and the rich history of activist feminist organisations is rarely examined This collection examines the nexus between the emancipation of women and their roles in these organisations Featuring contrasting studies from a wide range of contributors from different parts of the world it covers emerging issues such as the role of social media in organising the significance of religion in many cultural contexts activism in Eastern Europe and the impact of environmental degradation on women's lives Asking whether involvement in CSOs offers a potential source of emancipation for women or maintains the status quo this anthology will also have an impact on policy and practice in relation to equal opportunities Constructing Global Civil Society D. Chandler, 2004-09-13 Global Civil Society is a crucial concept in International Relations today used as both a description of new mechanisms of non state actor and NGO engagement in international policy making and as a normative political project of international change David Chandler critically investigates the claims made by the advocates of global civil society analyzing the limits of the concept as a way of describing actual policy processes and the political dynamics behind the search for an international source of collective ethical values and social change Development, NGOS, and Civil Society Jenny Pearce, Deborah Eade, 2000 The rise of neo liberalism and the so called Washington Consensus have generated a powerful international ideology concerning what constitutes good governance democratization and the proper roles of the State and civil society in advancing development As public spending has declined the nongovernment sector has benefited very significantly from taking on a service delivery role At the same time NGOs as representatives of civil society are a convenient channel through which official agencies can promote political pluralism But can NGOs simultaneously facilitate governments withdrawal from providing basic services for all and also claim to represent and speak for the poor and the disenfranchised The chapters describe some of the tensions inherent in the roles being played by NGOs and asks whether these organizations truly stand for anything fundamentally different from the agencies on whose largesse they increasingly depend Relationships for Aid Rosalind Eyben, 2012-04-27 International aid is about much more than money The UN Millennium Development Goals and major events like Live 8 have focused the world spotlight on issues of poverty relief and aid like never before but have not concentrated on the quality of relationships that can make aid succeed or fail This book authored by an internationally renowned group of aid practitioners reveals the contradictions and challenges involved in forging these relationships

International development organizations combine the unbridled play of power and arrogant amnesia with serious and innovative efforts to create a more democratic world to support transformative learning and to strengthen accountability. The book explores recent attempts from within aid agencies to go against the current flow of top down results based management by learning how to build lasting partnerships that transfer power to those at the receiving end of aid. More than just a critique, the authors offer a practical framework for understanding relationships in the international aid system and look at the relevance of organizational learning theory which is widely used in business.
