Rediscovering Rikyu And The Beginnings Of The Japanese Tea Ceremony:

Rediscovering Rikyu and the Beginnings of the Japanese Tea Ceremony Herbert Plutschow, 2021-10-01 For the first time Rikyu's tea is considered as a profoundly important political as well as a socio religious ritual in response to the dramatic changes taking place in the country at large the hundred year civil war Sengoku period was finally coming to an end and the process of political unification under the strong military leadership of Oda Nobunaga and Toyotomi Hideyoshi had begun An important focus in the book is the author's research into why Rikyu's tragic suicide enforced by Hideyoshi was a necessary outcome of the emerging conflict between ritual art and politics In addition the study highlights the tensions and struggles between individual artists who were led by a sense of artistic identity and inspiration together with the political leaders who imposed their artistic taste on the nation Plutschow also provides new insights into the sixteenth century Japanese perception of beauty commonly called wabi a simple often austere beauty displayed in tea in order to unite host and guests as equals This book will be of considerable interest in research connected with politics Zen Buddhism and art history as well as the central issues regarding the history and development of tea in Japan

Japan and the Culture of the Four Seasons Haruo Shirane, 2013-03-05 Elegant representations of nature and the four seasons populate a wide range of Japanese genres and media In Japan and the Culture of the Four Seasons Haruo Shirane shows how when and why this practice developed and explicates the richly encoded social religious and political meanings of this imagery Shirane discusses textual cultivated material performative and gastronomic representations of nature He reveals how this kind of secondary nature which flourished in Japan's urban environment fostered and idealized a sense of harmony with the natural world just at the moment when it began to recede from view Illuminating the deeper meaning behind Japanese aesthetics and artifacts Shirane also clarifies the use of natural and seasonal topics as well as the changes in their cultural associations and functions across history genre and community over more than a millennium In this book the four seasons are revealed to be as much a cultural construction as a reflection of the physical world Back cover

Speaking with Houses Michael Linzey, 2025-09-16 This book critically examines the concept of Being in Western philosophy and its manifestation in architecture The book traverses diverse cultural and historical contexts analysing five architectural works the Djoser Step Pyramid in ancient Egypt the Pantheon in imperial Rome the Tai'an tea house in late medieval Japan the Te Tokanganui a Noho meeting house in colonial New Zealand and Mies van der Rohe's Seagram Building in modern New York Through these case studies it challenges Martin Heidegger's assertion that language is the house of Being proposing instead that Being is a construct specific to Western ontology By exploring architectural poiesis across various cultures the book reveals that the Western notion of Being is not a universal foundation for architectural creation Each examined structure embodies distinct cultural and philosophical principles such as the concept of m in Japanese tea houses which signifies neither Being nor non Being and the no Being tradition in Mori tikanga This comparative analysis underscores the diversity of architectural expressions and their underlying philosophies offering readers a nuanced understanding of how different cultures conceptualize existence and space This book is an invaluable resource for scholars in architecture philosophy and cultural studies Its interdisciplinary approach provides a comprehensive critique of Western metaphysical assumptions encouraging readers to reconsider the relationship between language being and architectural form By integrating architectural analysis with philosophical inquiry it fosters a deeper appreciation of cultural diversity in architectural practices and invites academics to explore alternative ontological perspectives in the built environment
