Afsarmanesh, 2013-06-05 Towards Balanced Automation The concept Manufacturing industries worldwide are facing tough challenges as a consequence of the globalization of economy and the openness of the markets Progress of the economic blocks such as the European Union NAFTA and MERCOSUR and the global agreements such as GATT in addition to their obvious economic and social consequences provoke strong paradigm shifts in the way that the manufacturing systems are conceived and operate To increase profitability and reduce the manufacturing costs there is a recent tendency towards establishing partnership links among the involved industries usually between big industries and the networks of components suppliers To benefit from the advances in technology similar agreements are being established between industries and universities and research institutes Such an open cooperation network may be identified as an extended enterprise or a virtual enterprise In fact the manufacturing process is no more carried out by a single enterprise rather each enterprise is just a node that adds some value a step in the manufacturing chain to the cooperation network of enterprises The new trends create new scenarios and technological challenges especially to the Small and Medium size Enterprises SMEs that clearly comprise the overwhelming majority of manufacturing enterprises worldwide Under the classical scenarios these SMEs would have had big difficulties to access or benefit from the state of the art technology due to their limited human financial and material resources Practical Data Communications Roger L. Kaiser, 2004-09-29 As the number of electrical devices in use continues to grow so do the challenges of ensuring the electromagnetic compatibility EMC of products and systems Fortunately engineers have at their disposal an array of approximations models and rules of thumb to help them meet those challenges Unfortunately the number of these tools and guidelines is overwhelming and worse still is the thought of investigating their origins and confirming their results The Electromagnetic Compatibility Handbook is an unprecedented compilation of the many approximations guidelines models and rules of thumb used in EMC analyses complete with their sources and their limitations The book presents these in an efficient question and answer format and incorporates an extremely comprehensive set of tables and figures The author has either derived from basic principles or obtained and verified from their original sources all of the expressions in the tables Mathcad was used to generate most of the plots and solve many of the equations and the author includes the Mathcad programs for many of these so users can clearly see the variable assignments assumptions and equations Designed to be of long lasting value to engineers researchers and students the Electromagnetic Compatibility Handbook is ideal both for quick reference and as a textbook for upper level and graduate electrical engineering courses Information Networks and Data Communication Finn Arve Aagesen,Harald Botnevik,Dipak Khakhar,2016-01-09 Teleservice is a common concept for distributed application services related to the use of telecommunication equipment PCs workstations and mainframes Teleservices represent a diversity of applications related to various user and vendor cultures such as traditional telecommunications services E mail services cooperative work applications multimedia applications mobile services and intelligent network services The complexity and diversity of teleservices are increasing but of greater importance is the change in the way in which teleservices are designed delivered and maintained Information Network and Data Communications captures the cultural as well as the technical variety of teleservice The Best Books for Academic Libraries: Science, technology, and agriculture ,2002 Business Data Communications William Stallings,Richard Van Slyke,1998 Included in this work is coverage of the Internet and WWW with a detailed examination of Intranets Real world case studies and Web courses are used to support the pedagogy
