Reflecting on Darwin Eckart Voigts, Barbara Schaff, 2016-04-08 Taking up the historical evolution of Darwin and his theories and the cultural responses they have inspired Reflecting on Darwin poses the following questions How are the apparatuses in the mid nineteenth century and at the turn of the twenty first century interconnected with bio scientific paradigms in art literature culture and science How are naturalism determinism and Darwinism the eugenics of the nineteenth century and the genetic coding of the twentieth century positioned embodied and staged in various media configurations and media genres and How have particular media apparatuses formed displaced or stabilized the various concepts of humankind in the framework of evolutionary theory Ranging from the early circulation of Darwin s ideas to the present this interdisciplinary collection pays particular attention to Darwin s postmillennial reception Beginning with an overview of the historical development of contemporary ecological and ethical fears Reflecting on Darwin then turns to Darwin s influence on contemporary media neo Victorian literature and culture science fiction literature and film and contemporary theory In examining the plurality of ways in which Darwin has been rewritten and reappropriated this unique volume both mirrors and inspects the complexity of recent debates in Victorian and neo Victorian studies The Influence of Darwin on Philosophy and Other Essays in Contemporary Thought John Dewey, 2007 This critical edition of The Influence of Darwin on Philosophy and Other Essays in Contemporary Thought presents the results of John Dewey s patient construction throughout the previous sixteen years of the radically new view of the methods and concerns of philosophical inquiry It was a view that he continued to defend for the rest of his life The Literary Imagination from Erasmus Darwin to H.G. Wells Michael R. Page, 2016-03-09 At the close of the eighteenth century Erasmus Darwin declared that he would enlist the imagination under the banner of science beginning Michael Page argues a literary narrative on questions of evolution ecology and technological progress that would extend from the Romantic through the Victorian periods Examining the interchange between emerging scientific ideas specifically evolution and ecology new technologies and literature in nineteenth century Britain Page shows how British writers from Darwin to H G Wells confronted the burgeoning expansion of scientific knowledge that was radically redefining human understanding and experience of the natural world of human species and of the self The wide range of authors covered in Page s ambitious study permits him to explore an impressive array of topics that include the role of the Romantic era in the molding of scientific and cultural perspectives the engagement of William Wordsworth and Percy Shelley with questions raised by contemporary science Mary Shelley s conflicted views on the unfolding prospects of modernity and how Victorian writers like Charles Kingsley Samuel Butler and W H Hudson responded to the implications of evolutionary theory Page concludes with the scientific romances of H G Wells to demonstrate how evolutionary fantasies reached the pinnacle of synthesis between evolutionary science and the imagination at the close of the century Reflections of a Darwinian Gavin Rylands de Beer, 1962 Essays in Moral Skepticism

Richard Joyce, 2016-01-28 Moral skepticism is the denial that there is any such thing as moral knowledge. Some moral skeptics deny that moral judgments are beliefs; some allow that moral judgments are beliefs but claim that they are all untrue; others claim that all moral judgments are unjustified. Since the publication of The Myth of Morality in 2001, Richard Joyce has explored the terrain of moral skepticism and perhaps more than any other living philosopher has been willing to advocate versions of this radical view. Joyce's attitude toward morality is analogous to an atheist's attitude toward religion: he claims that in making moral judgments, speakers attempt to state truths (e.g., that breaking promises is usually wrong) but that the world simply isn't furnished with the properties and relations necessary to render such judgments true. Moral thinking, he argues, probably emerged as a human adaptation but one whose usefulness derived from its capacity to bolster social cohesion rather than its ability to track truths about the world. This forms the basis of Joyce's evolutionary debunking argument according to which evidence that a certain kind of judgment can be explained with no reference to its truth may reveal those judgments to lack warrant. Essays in Moral Skepticism gathers together a dozen of Joyce's most significant papers from the last decade following the developments in his ideas, presenting responses to critics and charting his exploration of the complex landscape of modern moral skepticism.

Nineteenth Century Religious Thought in the West Ninian Smart, 1988. Now available in paperback, the successful three volumes of Nineteenth Century Religious Thought in the West provide a fresh appraisal of the most important thinkers of that time. Some essays centre on major figures of the period; others cover topics, trends, and schools of thought between the French Revolution and the First World War. The contributors are among the leading scholars in their field and analyse not only what was said but also why it was said and explore what is of lasting value in it. Contributions are sufficiently clear to be of use to students in religious studies and cognate disciplines but have enough depth and detail to appeal to scholars.

Darwin's Psychology Ben Bradley, 2020-09-11. Darwin has long been hailed as the forefather of behavioural science, especially nowadays with the growing popularity of evolutionary psychology. Yet until now his contribution to the field of psychology has been somewhat understated This is the first book ever to examine the riches of what Darwin himself wrote about psychological matters It unearths a Darwin new to contemporary science whose first concern is the agency of organisms from which he derives both his psychology and his theory of evolution A deep reading of Darwin s writings on climbing plants and babies blushing and bower birds worms and facial movements shows that for Darwin evolution does not explain everything about human action Group life and culture are also keys whether we discuss the dynamics of conscience or the dramas of desire Thus his treatment of facial actions sets out from the anatomy and physiology of human facial movements and shows how these gain meanings through their recognition by others A discussion of blushing extends his theory to the way reading others expressions rebounds on ourselves I care about how I think you read me This dynamic proves central to how Darwin understands sexual desire the production of conscience and of social standards through group dynamics and the role of culture in human agency Presenting a new Darwin to science and showing how widely Darwin s understanding of evolution and agency has been misunderstood and misrepresented in biology and the social sciences this important new book lights a new way forward for those who want to build psychology on the foundation of evolutionary biology Among Our Books Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh,1918 Monthly Bulletin of the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh,1919 [The correspondence ] ; The correspondence of Charles Darwin. 12. 1864 Duncan M. worked to re bury these newly unearthed facts by means of knee jerk blind sight ignorant rejection blatant and deliberate fact denial censorship persistent and serious workplace harassment obscene social media abuse poison pen emails lies mischievous misrepresentation and repeat research plagiarism

Annals of the History and Philosophy of Biology 10/2005,2006 The name DGGTB Deutsche Gesellschaft f r Geschichte und Theorie der Biologie German Society for the History and Theory of Biology reflects recent history as well as German tradition The Society is a relatively late addition to a series of German societies of science and medicine that began with the Deutsche Gesellschaft f r Geschichte der Medizin und der Naturwissenschaften founded in 1910 by Leipzig University s Karl Sudhoff 1853 1938 who wrote We want to establish a German society in order to gather German speaking historians together in our special disciplines so that they form the core of an international society Yet Sudhoff at this time of burgeoning academic internationalism was quite willing to accommodate the wishes of a number of founding members and drop the word German in the title of the Society and have it merge with an international society The founding and naming of the Society at that time derived from a specific set of historical circumstances and the same was true some 80 years later when in 1991 in the wake of German reunification the Deutsche Gesellschaft f r Geschichte und Theorie der Biologie was founded From the start the Society has been committed to bringing studies in the history and philosophy of biology to a wide audience using for this purpose its Jahrbuch f r Geschichte und Theorie der Biologie Parallel to the Jahrbuch the Verhandlungen zur Geschichte und Theorie der Biologie has become the by now traditional medium for the publication of papers delivered at the Society s annual meetings In 2005 the Jahrbuch was renamed Annals of the History and Philosophy of Biology reflecting the Society s internationalist aspirations in addressing comparative biology as a subject of historical and philosophical studies
