Lament for a Son Nicholas Wolterstorff,1987-05-18 Well known Christian philosopher Nicholas Wolterstorff has authored many books that have contributed significantly to scholarship in several subjects In Lament for a Son he writes not as a scholar but as a loving father grieving the loss of his son In brief vignettes Wolterstorff explores with a moving honesty and intensity all the facets of his experience of this irreversible loss Though he grieves not as one who has no hope he finds no comfort in the pious sounding phrases that would diminish the malevolence of death The book is in one sense a narrative account of events from the numbing telephone call on a sunny Sunday afternoon that tells of 25 year old Eric s death in a mountain climbing accident to a graveside visit a year later But the book is far more than narrative Every event is an occasion for remembering for meditating for Job like anguish in the struggle to accept and understand A profoundly faith affirming book Lament for a Son gives eloquent expression to a grief that is at once unique and universal a grief for an individual irreplaceable person Though it is an intensely personal book Wolterstorff decided to publish it he says in the hope that it will be of help to some of those who find themselves with us in the company of mourners Mosques in the

Metropolis Elisabeth Becker,2021-09-20 Mosques in the Metropolis a dual site ethnographic study of two of Europe s largest mosques one a conservative Islamist community in London and the other a progressive Muslim community in Berlin The contrasting sites allow sociologist Elisabeth Becker to provide a complex picture of Islam in Europe at a particularly fraught time She spent over thirty months studying the mosques through immersion and interviews and provides an analysis that goes deep into European Muslim communities Individual Muslim voices come through loud and clear for example the young mother of three in London trying to reconcile her conservative religious views with her desire to leave her husband as do the historical and structural forces at play Ultimately Becker insists that caste is a crucial lens through which to view

Islam in Europe and through this lens she critiques what she perceives as failing European pluralism To amplify her point Becker brings Jewish history and twentieth century Jewish thought into the conversation directly drawing on the ways in which Bauman and Arendt utilized the concept of caste to describe Jewish life and marginality What is at stake here is nothing less than the fundamental values of freedom equality and individual rights ostensibly the bedrock of European identity

Muslim Families, Politics and the Law Ralph Grillo, 2016-03-09 Contemporary European societies are multi ethnic and multi cultural certainly in terms of the diversity which has stemmed from the immigration of workers and refugees and their settlement Currently however there is widespread often acrimonious debate about other cultural and religious beliefs and practices and limits to their accommodation This book focuses principally on Muslim families and on the way in which gender relations and associated questions of women's agency, consent and autonomy have become the focus of political and social commentary with followers of the religion under constant public scrutiny and criticism. Practices concerning marriage and divorce are especially controversial and the book includes a detailed overview of the public debate about the application of Islamic legal and ethical norms, shari'a, in family law matters and the associated role of Shari'a councils in a British context. In short, Islam generally and the Muslim family in particular have become highly politicized sites of contestation and the book considers how and why and with what implications for British multiculturalism past, present and future. The study will be of great interest to international scholars and academics researching the governance of diversity and the accommodation of other faiths including Islam.
