Shared Stories From Daughters Of Alzheimers Writing A Path To Peace:

Shared Stories from Daughters of Alzheimer's Kathleen Adams, Persis R. Granger, 2004-01-04 Shared Stories from Daughters of Alzheimer's is a support group in print for those escorting a loved one on the Alzheimer's journey. Nine women map the passage of a parent through Alzheimer's disease, describing the evolution of their own emotional responses to the disease and the changes it effects in the patient and in her relationship with family members. The book invites the reader to take a first step in healing from Alzheimer's ripple effect by beginning to journal about the experience. Use the stories here as tools to understand your own painful situation. Employ them to help you empower yourself, sort through your emotions, and begin to heal. Seize upon that which makes sense to you and disregard that which seems irrelevant. Then pick up your favorite pen and notebook and talk about what is going on in your journey with Alzheimer's disease. We wish you well. Persis Granger, Editor. Shared Stories from Daughters of Alzheimer's. An enthralling, ambitious, and much needed effort, most definitely the sort of work on Alzheimer's that needs to get public notice. The author wrote the book not only to tell the story but to also reach out and share what they both learned along the way. Her mother lived with her family for eleven years and began developing dementia that slowly grew into Alzheimer's over this time. Eventually, her mother needed nursing home care. The author spent over twenty-five years as a teacher of communication skills and psychological consultant to Hospices in the Chicago area and offered her services as an end-of-life counselor and grief counselor. She was a psychotherapist for the same period of time. She had developed many skills that helped her be with her mother in a positive way, but there were many things to learn that she did not know about in walking through the many years together in the stages often called the big forgetting. Her book details the stages that she, her husband, and her mother took together as they walked through the months weeks and days of eight years of forgetting The author and her mother had a close and friendship based relationship and had shared over many years conversations about books friends politics and family There was no loss as great as the ones that came about when her mother could no longer see to read could not remember the grandchildren s names and could no longer share a cup of tea with her daughter and simply talk the good talk of women everywhere Because of these losses the author Elizabeth Pannier began to keep a journal documenting conversations experiences laughter poetry sadness and finally the shared silences Because of the way in which their last years together evolved this memoir is written in the form of letters addressed to her mother Each chapter begins Dear Mother and then continues as it revolves around a particular theme The book is drawn on these journal entries and shared experiences and reads well Some of the themes are Forgetting Losing Oneself Nursing Homes Leaning to Listen Reflections Falling Shadows and Letting Go The book is short and yet helpful and supportive to the reader Responses to this book have been positive and supportive It is helpful for people beginning to walk their own journey with a loved one at this stage of life It is profoundly helpful for those people who are grieving the loss of a loved one from this dementia path and it is a great help for those who are aging and desire to share a talk about the possibility of Dementia and Alzheimer s and what they would like their children to know about their wishes This is not a how to book It is a poignant truthful accounting of one mother and one family who loved her and cared for her throughout her final days and learned that each day is special In the end both her mother and the author moved through the final years in a positive way and that is one of the facts of living that they learned over and over again It continues to be the author s desire that this story of WalkingTogether will be of help to others who find themselves in the beginning middle or ending stages of walking with a beloved through this final journey assisting them with the process of acceptance and letting go of any fear Each moment is life and an opportunity for love and it is one way to walk together through the great forgetting
